ACCEPT HOOVER AS COOLIDGE'S BANNER BEARER

Commerce Secretary Must

EAST CONTROLS VOTE

Some Republicans Still Have
Lingering Hope That Cal

Washington—Herbert Hoover's announcement of his willingness to have his name go on the presidential preference primary ballot of Ohio is accepted here as meaning that he has definitely aligned himself with the Coolidge wing of the republican party and that his campaign will be made on Coolidge principles.

Although Senator Willis of Ohio, also considers himself a supporter of the President, it is the effect of the Hoover announcement on other states which was being generally discussed here Tuesday. For the announcement means that the secretary of commerce will have a battle in the middle west generally where both former Governor Lowden and Vice President Dawes are considered friendly to the McNary-Haugen agricultural plan which was vetoed by the president.

The controlling voice, however, in the republican national convention usually comes from the large eastern states and the Hoover announcement is expected to win support among the republican strongholds where the Coolidge policies are firmly entrenched. As for the far west the fact that Mr. Hoover is a westerner and that he is an engineer in sympathy with many of the large building projects vital to the west's development are counted on to aid him.

BRITTEN BACK OF COOLIDGE IN NAVY FIGHT

Illinois Man Changes Mind
About Five-year Building Limit

Washington—(AP)—Representative Britten of Illinois, one of the leaders of the "Big Navy" group in the house said Tuesday he would not fight for the building of the administration's naval program in five years, but that he intended to support President Coolidge, whose wish it is to have no time limit specified.

Britten heretofore had led the fight for the construction of the various elements of the naval program within a specified time limit. After a call at the White House Tuesday he said that he had been convinced that the president was right in desiring to round out the navy in keeping with the condition of the treasury and that he expected to support both in the house and senate the program of Mr. Coolidge as submitted recently to congress.

This plan contemplates the construction of twenty-five cruisers, five aircraft carriers, nine destroyers and thirty-two submarines at a cost of $740,000,000 over a period of possibly eight years but without any stipulation made in the bill as to when building should begin or be completed.

Replying to charges that the administration's program was a highly expensive one, Mr. Britten declared that it was carried out over a period of eight years it would add only 29 percent over the navy budget for appropriations submitted this year.

POLICE MARKSMAN KILLS THREE MEN IN "STICKUP"

Chicago—(AP)—Detective Sergeant Thomas Cooper, quick on the draw and of deadly aim, failed to "stick 'em up" in answer to a bandit quartet's commands Monday night, but when the smoke cleared away one robber lay dead, two were probably mortally wounded, while the fourth had fled.

The shooting took place in a south-side restaurant where the bandit had stopped for lunch. While hanging up his hat and coat, the four men entered the place, one of them seizing Miss Blanche Wilson, proprietor, by the throat.

She screamed. Sergeant Cooper wheeled around, drawing his pistol. The bandit leader dropped to the floor at the first shot. Two others, unarmed, attempted to rush the policeman, but they too fell.

The fourth man ran.

The dead leader, identified by cards on his person, was believed to be Charles Green, 25.

Edward Smith, 23, died a few hours later in a hospital.

EDITOR'S SON SUCCUMBS AT HOME IN JANESVILLE

Janesville—(AP)—Stephen Whitford Bolles, Jr., son of Stephen Bolles, editor of the Janesville Gazette, died here Monday night following a relapse from bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Bolles, 32, was branch manager of the Highway Trailer Co. at Tulsa, Okla., when he became ill. He served with the Eighteenth company of the Fifth Marine Corps during the World war and was cited for bravery six times.

BELOIT COLLEGE HOST TO ANTHROPOLOGISTS

Beloit—(AP)—The American anthropological Association will be the guest of the Logan Museum and Beloit College in annual convention March 2 and 3, college authorities announced Tuesday.

Members of the association expressed the desire of making Beloit the convention city in order that they may view the Logan museum collection of European specimens of anthropological interests.

BURNS DENIES TRAILING SINCLAIR JURY

MAYOR CANDIDATE COOL AS DIVORCED WIFE RUSHES STAGE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Otto Conrad, Monday night proved himself a good actor as well as a mayoralty campaigner.

Conrad, while speaking before an audience in West Allis, a suburb of Milwaukee, was confronted by his divorced wife who had pushed through the throng and clambered upon the stage.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Conrad, "meet my divorced wife."

The audience gave her a rousing cheer and Mr. Conrad continued his speech after providing her with a seat.

"I still love her," said Conrad. "With all her faults, I still love her."

Mr. Conrad then turned back to the burning issue of political life in West Allis.

SLEUTH CALLS SENATORS TO PROVE VIRTUE

Head of Detective Agency
Says Charges of Government
Are False

Washington—(AP)—His reputation vouched for by five United States senators, William J. Burns, charged with Harry F. Sinclair and three others, with criminal contempt of court, testified in his own behalf Tuesday and vigorously denied connections with the surveillance of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy jury.

Senators Shortridge, California; Watson, Indiana; Moses, New Hampshire; and Copeland and Wagner, of New York, each testified that the international known detective had a good reputation for honesty and integrity.

Burns, aggressively defending himself, denied every charge the government had placed against him and declared testimony by William J. McMullin, the government's star witness, was completely untrue as far as it affected him.

McMullin, working for the Burns agency under the name of William V. Long, testified the noted detective had used him to stick to a false story before the grand jury. Burns said he did nothing of the sort and only inquired of McMullin if his report saying a juror had been approached by a government employe, was accurate.

Burns said he had no connection with the Burns detective agency since 1921 and knew nothing of its employment by Sinclair to shadow the oil jurors until after the trial of the oil case.

STUDY PARTY RECORDS

Campaign chest records of both the Republican and Democratic parties, with particular reference to the 1929 presidential contest, likely will be examined by the senate Teapot Dome committee in its quest for traces of profits of the now extinct Continental Trading Co. of Canada.

Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, already has been asked to tell the committee about the $75,000 donation by Harry F. Sinclair, Teapot Dome lessee and a shareholder of the Continental, to the party deficit in 1923, and now Chairman Nye, Republican, North Dakota, expects to summarize Democratic party officials to see if they have a similar story to relate.

Chairman Nye said Monday night that members of the committee believed that if "this oil money" went to one party it was "quite apt to have gone to the other, too." He has not decided yet just whom to call before the committee, but he recalled that Sinclair had testified in 1927 that he had contributed to campaign funds of both parties.

Basil Manly (left), former joint chairman of the War Labor Board with William Howard Taft, uncovered evidence alleged to prove that Liberty Bonds from the Continental Trading company, from which company Albert E. Fall is said to have received $223,000, were used to help pay Republican indebtedness incurred in the Harding campaign. Manly is shown here with Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the Senate investigating committee. They are studying evidence which may result in subpoenas for Will H. Hays, Senator T. Coleman DuPont and other prominent Republicans.

ORDER KLAN HEAD TO MAKE UP MIND

Stephenson Must Decide
Whether He Will Testify in Jackson Case

Indianapolis, Ind.—(AP)—D. C. Stephenson, was given until 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to make up his mind whether he would testify as a state witness in the trial of Governor Ed Jackson.

The extension of time was given the former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan on the plea of Eusebio W. Johnson, special assistant prosecuting attorney, after Stephenson, recalled to the stand for the third time during the day, had declined to testify because he said he was not fully advised as to his constitutional rights.

Stephenson, who was brought here Monday from the state prison where he is serving a life sentence for murder, then was led away and Fred Robinson, former state pensioning agent, was called by prosecutor William Remy.

Stephenson threw a bombshell into the state plans after the prosecution had won a legal battle to get his testimony before the jury. Defense attorneys had argued he was not qualified to testify regarding the charge on which Governor Jackson is being tried—that of conspiracy to commit a felony in an attempt to bribe.

Lloyd O. Hill and Clarence E. Benson, attorneys for Stephenson, entered the controversy. Hill said he would like to be satisfied as to certain things before advising Stephenson what to do.

"Mr. Stephenson, state whether on or about Dec. 4, 1923, you turned over $10,000 in an envelope to the defendant in this case, Ed Jackson?" Remy asked.

Ohio Political Leader Decides To Help Hoover

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—Maurice Maschke, republican national committeeman for Ohio, Tuesday threw his support definitely to Herbert Hoover as the party's candidate for president.

"The Cuyahoga (Cleveland) party organization almost to a unit believe Hoover the strongest man the republicans can select for the presidential nomination," Maschke declared.

"Personally I believe his nomination would most likely carry the party to victory here this coming fall, so I am going to support the Hoover candidacy."

Maschke's statement set at rest conjecture as to whether he would align himself with Hoover or Senator Frank E. Willis, in the impending fight for the Ohio delegation to the national convention.

Maschke made it plain that he was speaking at this time for the county organization and himself but not for the state organization. His position as national committeeman, however, gave his declaration significance.

Maschke is the first national committeeman to express his view on the fight between Willis and Hoover, which was brought to a definite issue last week in Washington when the secretary agreed to let his name be used as a candidate in forming the Ohio delegation to the national convention.

Columbus, O.—(AP)—In answer to national committeeman Maurice Maschke's endorsement of Secretary Hoover for the presidency, Chairman A. Thompson, campaign manager for Frank E. Willis, declared that Willis delegates will be placed in every district of the state.

Mr. Thompson expressed regret at the national committeeman's decision to support Mr. Hoover, but he said he was not surprised at his action. He also declared he could not agree with Mr. Maschke that Mr. Hoover is assured of the nomination.

MAN BURNED WHEN HE POURS OIL ON FIRE

Kaukauna Home Damaged by Blast and Three Members of Family Are Hurt

Kaukauna—(AP)—Newton, 215 Grand street, suffered severe burns early Tuesday morning when a coal stove in the dining room of his home exploded. Newton's daughter Geraldine, 2 years of age also was burned and Mrs. Newton was cut by glass when she and the baby plunged through a dining room window to escape the flame filled room. Newton's burns were about the legs and the face.

According to versions of the accident Newton attempted to start a fire in the dining room stove. The fire spread rapidly and the explosion demolished the dining room. The fire was extinguished by the fire department with a loss of $100.

The aged man, who is confined here, it was said, at his rooming house, he went out little during the day and for short periods during the evening, remaining in his room most of the time. He was an assiduous reader.

One letter addressed to a Mr. G. H. Johnson at Rice Lake, Ont., hinted at the striking of a hole of some mineral. It said that "we have four or five—bring what samples you have available."

Even without identification, by his son the man's identity would apparently have been established through a letter sent him by his daughter, Mrs. R. Stanley Arnold.

Mrs. Arnold was addressed her letter to the surgeon, Dr. M. Rich and one letter to the fact that she had won a tennis contest. A newspaper clipping established her identity.

"The real contest," the letter stated, "was between a rotten disposition and my Chester Perry cupidity."

FIND MORE EVIDENCE IN M'ILLAN SLAYING CASE

Los Angeles—(AP)—State evidence which the prosecution contends strengthens the claim of circumstantial evidence against McMillan with the slaying of Mrs. Annette Appleton, wife of a widow of a Wisconsin inventor, was declared to have been found by sheriff's officers as they searched the trial was held Tuesday.

The prosecution also said it would call a score of witnesses to testify against the defendant who acted as his own manager for the Appleton McMillan trial, which opened in the Los Angeles federal court.

The body of Mrs. Appleton was found in a shallow grave on a roadside near San Jose, Calif., the day after Christmas. A coroner's jury found that she had been strangled and the body was buried in the grave.

Aberdeen, S. D.—(AP)—Ray and Walter, of Racine, Wis., were found guilty of grand larceny charged Monday night when a jury in federal court made a report found three hours' detention. The three youths were charged with the larceny of a warehouse here in which 12,000 cigarettes were taken.

Lindy Finds Way Through Fog To Home

800 People Stand in Soaking
Rain to Greet Lone Eagle as He Returns

St. Louis—(AP)—His triumph of flying solo across the continent, Lindy, the young man who flew the Spirit of St. Louis, was greeted Tuesday by a throng of 800 people who stood in the rain to greet him as he landed at Lambert-St. Louis field.

His flight, begun Dec. 13 at Washington and ending at St. Louis, Mo., was an odyssey of the air which in its spectacular aspects was second only to his New York to Paris flight.

With characteristic modesty, Lindy said the last 100 miles of the flight through the fog was the most difficult and that he was not at all tired.

My longest jump over the water was between Havana and Key West about 100 miles," he related. "Then from Key West to Florida I think it was 100 miles."

NABORHOOD STORES IN DOLLAR DAY SALE

Downtown Merchants Make Elaborate Preparations for Annual Bargain Event

Small grocery stores in the downtown district will take part in Appleton's first Dollar Day on Thursday and Friday of this week, when they will offer special bargains in all the merchandise they handle. The majority of these cooperative stores are neighborhood institutions.

Cooperation between these smaller stores and the wholesaler is so close that certain specials will be offered in all cooperating stores at the same price. That means that in any of the stores the same commodities will be obtainable at the same prices. In addition to these cooperative specials, the grocers will offer trade and individual bargains.

Activities in the downtown section are growing with the approach of the springing day and many dealers, that have before now expected to offer special bargains, one merchant whose lease has expired, will take the opportunity to clean up his entire stock. An extra large edition of the Post-Tribune will be necessary to carry the advertising of the merchants taking part in the two day event.

Outlying grocers who will participate are:

ATTORNEY MAY FILE APPEALS TO HIGH COURT

Murderer Loses Jaunty Air for Only Few Minutes After Being Sentenced

Los Angeles, Cal.—(AP)—William Howard Hickman Tuesday was sentenced to death for the slaying and burning of a woman. The execution was set for Friday, April 27, Judge J. J. Tamm presiding on the bench.

Hickman will be hanged unless his attorneys are successful in an appeal to the state supreme court. Two witnesses were placed on the witness stand to establish the crime and the degree of murder.

Hickman was ordered turned over to the sheriff at once for transfer to San Quentin prison. The prisoner, who had stood erect to hear his sentence pronounced, dropped heavily into his seat after the last word fell from Judge Tamm's lips.

Hickman's attorney, Eugene A. F. Wagner, asked for an examination of the mutilated body of the Parker child and Herman Glue, chief of detectives, repeated the testimony of Hickman's sanity trial concerning the victim's screams.

Before passing sentence Judge Tamm denied the defense motion for a new trial and also overruled a motion asking the court was without jurisdiction to pronounce judgment. The court overruled an objection by the defense to the admission of any evidence on the degree of the crime.

Hickman was pallid and he appeared to be in a daze as he was led from the court room. However, ten minutes after the brief procedure was finished, he was smiling and jaunty as he returned to pass for news camera men in the court room.

The disposition of Hickman on the kidnapping conviction was left by the court to the state board of prison directors.

No notice of appeal of the case was filed by Wagner, who indicated last week he would make. After the session ended he pointed out that he has two days in which to take the appeal.

Although in Tuesday's session in the slaying case of the Marian Parker case, Hickman made his personal appearance, the appeal will carry the case through the long round of the courts and attorneys predicted that if the murder case was finally condemned to the electric chair, it would be so in months before the execution could take place.

GOES TO SAN QUENTIN Judge Denies Defense Motion for New Trial Before Announcing Verdict

HUNT TO PLEAD GUILTY

At the Parker case moved ahead, preparations were under way for the opening of Hickman's trial Tuesday with his 16-year-old accomplice, Walter Hunt, for the slaying of a 16-year-old girl, the victim of one of his holdups.

Hunt's attorney said that he would enter a plea of guilty if he were permitted to present evidence of mitigating circumstances—primarily poor home influence and alleged domination by the older boy. Hunt, because of his youth cannot be sentenced to death.

CAN'T SEIZE LIQUOR UNLESS USED FOR CRIME

San Francisco—(AP)—Private stocks of liquor are immune from seizure by prohibition agents unless such seizure is clearly predicated upon evidence of sale or unless there is proof that it is being used in the commission of a crime, the United States circuit court of appeals here has ruled.

The decision was handed down Tuesday when the court ordered the return of liquor seized by federal prohibition agents in a raid at the home of Thomas Paine, of San Francisco. The court also ruled that all liquor seized must be returned to its owner, unless its possession was legal or it was found to be used for sale or in the commission of a crime.

REGISTRAR EXPLAINS WHY MANY STUDENTS FAIL AT UNIVERSITY

Need Guidance in Secondary Schools to Prevent Big Turnover, Holt Says

Educational guidance in secondary schools will help eliminate the tremendous turnover of students in American institutions of higher learning, Frank Holt, registrar of the University of Wisconsin, and chairman of the state educational guidance committee told members of Appleton luncheon clubs at a joint meeting Monday noon at the Conway hotel.

The meeting also was attended by members of the local vocational board of education, the school board, A. D. S. Gillette, president of a Superior normal; J. M. McNeil, Beloit; Earl McLaughlin, Jefferson; Prof. A. H. Edgerton, University of Wisconsin; Prof. Hamilton, University of Wisconsin; Dr. H. M. Wriston, Lawrence college, and Ben Rohan, superintendent of Appleton schools.

It has become characteristic of average American parents, Mr. Holt said, to wish their sons and daughters have better time in life than they had, and this fact in mind, more parents have sent their children to institutions of higher learning. But of the thousands who enter these institutions, one third do not return at the end of the first year and one half fail to graduate. The state board of vocational education was organized to examine this condition, the speaker said.

The state board of educational guidance, according to Mr. Holt, is composed of representatives of the university of Wisconsin, the normal schools, state colleges and the high schools and has for its purpose the examination of elementary school work to determine what may be expected of students when they enter institutions of higher learning.

Many students come to college or to the university, the speaker said, with little sincerity of purpose and little seriousness as to the work they are about to undertake. This fact is the reason for many failures, according to Mr. Holt, the other being that many students are not naturally adapted to college work. There still is room for analyzing the school boy or girl and guiding him educationally through his elementary schooling, he said.

The speaker closed his address with a tribute to the personality of the teacher, stating that unless the teaching force of a school has the necessary personality it can accomplish little with students.

COURT SETS DATE FOR EDWARD ROBERTS TRIAL

Edward Roberts, Menasha, was arraigned before Judge Thos. Berg Monday afternoon on a serious charge and his trial was set for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, Feb. 24. He was unable to furnish $1,000 bonds and is held in the county jail.

The Menasha man was brought to Appleton last week from Oshkosh after he was paroled by the Oshkosh court following a plea of guilty of non-support.

Roberts is held here on complaint of Fred Diehl, route 2, Appleton, father of Miss May Belle Diehl, 27, who was found in Fillmore, Utah, in December, 1927, after a nationwide search. Mr. Diehl charges Roberts induced Miss Diehl to leave Appleton with him by promising to marry her. At the same time Roberts had a wife and three children living in Menasha.

BARBERS VOTE HELP FOR LABOR COLLEGE

Support of the labor college here was voted by members of the barber's union at their regular monthly meeting in Trades and Labor hall Monday night. The barbers also voted a sum of money to the college and suggested that as many of the members as possible attend.

This action was preceded by an address by Samuel Sigman, a member of the board of trustees of the college. He discussed accomplishments to date and explained the purposes of the institution. His address was one of a series which he is giving before labor union locals.

COUNTY ZONE LAW THRESHED OUT AT MEETING OF BOARD

Supervisors End Session Early to Be Guests at County Asylum

Following a short business session Tuesday morning the county board adjourned at 11 o'clock and the supervisors went to the county asylum to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, superintendent and matron at dinner.

Discussion of the proposed county zoning ordinance occupied most of Tuesday morning's session. Each section of the ordinance was read and discussed. The board was unable to complete the work on the ordinance and it will be continued at Wednesday's session.

"We are here to enact laws for the welfare of the people and if this zoning ordinance will damage some individuals we must remember that it will help many more," said Supervisor T. H. Ryan, Appleton.

Supervisors August Laabs, Grand Chute, William Tate, Bear Creek, and A. M. McClone, Deer Creek, gave short talks stressing the beneficial points of the ordinance.

The ordinance, drawn by District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf and members of the ordinance committee, is copied closely after an ordinance in Milwaukee-co, the only county in the state having such an ordinance in the state regulating construction outside city limits.

Provisions for set back lines to permit wider highways in the future; for prohibiting sign boards along highways; and regulating types of business and industries in certain districts are included in the proposed ordinance.

It is not likely the ordinance will be adopted at this session as a committee must first prepare maps showing the dividing of the county into zones as provided in the law. There will be seven sections: "A" residence district; "B" residence district; local business district; agricultural district; commercial and light manufacturing district; heavy industrial districts; and unrestricted districts. It is expected that the committee will be appointed at this session with instructions to report at the April session.

The zoning ordinance will not be effective in towns or villages until town or village boards adopt it by resolution. Towns or villages, however, cannot adopt zoning ordinances unless the county also has a building restriction code, according to Mr. Lonsdorf.

Reports of bills paid by several committees were read and approved and several applications for refund of illegal taxes were referred to the illegal tax committee.

C. OF C. WON'T ACT ON UNSIGNED LETTER

Some resident or residents of Appleton, or probably Outagamie-co., have addressed a communication to the local chapter of commerce protesting the appointment of road patrol superintendent for this county, the salary paid, and has suggested that certain qualifications be required of the successful candidate. But because the writer or writers of the letter signed "Taxpayers" and gave no other clue to their identification no action will be taken on the missive.

The chamber of commerce was requested to present the letter to the county board of supervisors at the present session. Kenneth G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber said Tuesday that his organization will take no action on anonymous letters.

Tracy Fights Proposed New Court House Grounds Road

Routine business matters occupied the opening meeting of the February session of the county board at the courthouse Monday afternoon. Indications were that the board would be in session five days adjourning on Friday's session.

Supervisor John Tracy, Appleton, told the board he objected to the establishment of a driveway through the courthouse grounds from fifth to 4th-sts. The county board at the November session appropriated $1,000 for the work and Mr. Tracy said he did not believe it would be wise to divide the courthouse grounds to provide a parking place for autos.

"We could use the $1,000 to widen Elm-st. east of the courthouse," Mr. Tracy said. "The sidewalk on Elm-st. is little used by pedestrians as most of them use the walk through the courthouse grounds. The road could be widened considerably and plenty of parking space could be provided. If we construct the roadway through the grounds, as now proposed, it will constitute a traffic hazard and offices on the west side of the courthouse will be disturbed by the noise from cars going through the grounds."

Mr. Tracy suggested that the driveway in the courthouse grounds be used as parking places by county officials on days when the board is in session.

Supervisors Anton Jansen, Little Chute, and T. H. Ryan, Appleton, agreed with Mr. Tracy and the matter was referred to the building and grounds committee with instructions to report later in the week.

The board was asked to petition the state highway commission to build a new bridge across the Fox river on Lawest, Kaukauna, in a resolution presented to the county board by the city of Kaukauna. The resolution was referred to the highway committee.

The annual report of the clerk of courts was read and referred to the finance committee and the district attorney. A report on dog taxes for 1927 was given by John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

Resolutions from the cities of Kaukauna and Appleton, villages of Little Chute, Kaukauna and Combined Locks and the town of Kaukauna asking the county board to appropriate funds to pave County Trunk Z from Appleton to Kaukauna on the south side of the Fox river were read and referred to the highway committee.

The Liberal platform includes a new senior high school, a municipal air port, automatic traffic control, new city hall, better parks and playgrounds, new swimming pool.

ASK ABOLISHMENT OF END WALL MENACE

Supervisor Anton Jansen Wants County Board to Remove Danger

Supervisor Anton Jansen, Little Chute, plans to bring a resolution before the county board this week to provide for the elimination of culvert end walls on roads in the county.

"End walls constitute a serious menace to traffic and Outagamie-co. should follow the example set by Brown-co. in abolishing them," Mr. Jansen said. "End walls are needless and cause many serious accidents. It will not be much of a problem to have them removed."

Approval of Supervisor Jansen's proposal was expressed by Supervisor T. H. Ryan, Appleton, who cited the case of an Appleton man who was injured and his car wrecked when it struck an end wall after skidding out of a rut. Mr. Ryan said the driver of the car was not speeding and that it was what might be termed an unavoidable accident under the circumstances. If the end wall had been removed, however, Mr. Ryan said, the accident would not have occurred.

Supervisor John Tracy, Appleton, pointed out that the cost of removing the walls would be more than made up by using them as a part of the road. Supervisor Malachi Ryan, Combined Locks, believes there is a state law compelling the county to erect some kind of an end wall as a warning to motorists. Supervisor F. R. Appleton, Oneida, member of the highway commission, said all new culverts are being erected without end walls but that taking down the old walls would be a big work.

250 HEAR SPEAKERS URGE CONSERVATION OF WOODS AND WATER

Waltonians Entertained With Delightful Program After Reindeer Dinner

More than 250 persons from Appleton and surrounding territory gathered at Castle hall Monday evening, and, after partaking of a reindeer steak dinner, heard several noted speakers tell of conservation work that is being accomplished in the state through the Isaac Walton League and the state conservation commission.

Richard Sykes, president of Appleton Chapter No. 1 of the league, introduced the speakers, the first of whom was the Rev. J. A. Holmes, a member of the advisory board of the state conservation committee and an ardent supporter of all movements to preserve the natural beauty of the country.

Going back to his childhood days, Dr. Holmes gave an example of conservation when he told the audience that in bygone days Ohio people used natural gas for cooking and heating their homes at a monthly rate of but 15 cents. "But now," he declared, "the gas is piped in from other states and is sold at a high rate. People in the early days believed the supply was inexhaustible and did not conserve."

Partial blame for the crime wave in large cities was placed on the failure of previous generations to conserve the forests, the speaker declared. "In congested areas there is always a certain amount of crime, always much larger, than in sections of the country where people are given an opportunity to get into touch with nature. If provision had been made in bygone days so that such congestion would not be necessary, there would not be the crime that there is today."

Abraham Lincoln's greatness was attributed to the fact that he lived close to nature during his boyhood days. "Not only Lincoln but other men of earlier days to whom this country owes much were great men because when they were young—at the impressionable age—they were in close touch with nature in the solitude of the great forests."

A. A. Fish, Milwaukee, past president of the state organization and for many years a park engineer was the next speaker. He dwelt at length on how parks had been provided for in previous years and said there was yet time for some of the wild country to be saved. Mr. Fish spoke in the place of Sherman Brown, also of Milwaukee, who was unable to attend.

Arthur J. Kannenburg, Oshkosh, secretary and treasurer of the Isaac Walton league there, spoke on the work of the league in that city to preserve the Indian reservation and lands along the Wolf river from the threatened invasion by power companies who, he declared, are using fair means and foul to induce the Indians to sign petitions asking that the dam be permitted.

Following the speakers, the audience was shown seven reels of moving pictures dealing with conservation.

SPORTS NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA SOCIETY

200 DADS AND LADS GATHER AT MENASHA FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

Parents Get Better Acquainted With Sons as Result of Meeting

Menasha—The tenth annual father and son banquet at the Congregational church Monday evening was the most successful in the history of the church. Nearly 200 dads and sons were in attendance and the program was on a more elaborate scale than ever before. It opened at 6:15 with demonstrations by Boy Scouts Troop No. 14 of the Congregational church and from then until 9 o'clock there was something doing every minute.

The mess hall was crowded by a buffet at 6:45 and immediately the fathers and sons formed in line in the gymnasium and marched to the dining room. Fathers without sons and sons without fathers were temporarily supplied. Before the guests were seated, several songs were sung with M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, as solo leader. One of the musical attractions this year was the Twin City Male quartet which recently broadcast a program from a Milwaukee radio station.

CLARK MAKES SPEECH
The Rev. John Best pronounced the invocation. H. M. Northrup briefly introduced the guests and introduced the toastmaster, E. F. Saeker, who said it was gratifying to see so many fathers and sons present. "Our boys today are the professional and business men of tomorrow," he said. While not on the program, E. H. Schultz gave a brief talk on church obligations and the need of members fulfilling their pledges.

H. L. Gear, chairman of the valley scout council, introduced M. G. Clark, the new Valley scout executive, who gave a brief talk on dads and lads. He discussed the boys' duties to his home and parents and invited their fathers to join in their fishing trips and other excursions. He said it is great to be a good sport and one of the finest places to be a good sport is at home. Home is a sort of small republic with all the members of the family as citizens. Let each one of the mother group make a deal, he said.

Mayor N. G. Remmel gave a talk on Our New Scout Cabin. "Some time ago," the mayor said, "the thought came to the members of the common council and board of education that it would be a fine thing for the boys to have a cabin at their scouts' headquarters. Lake Winnebago. There was immediate response from the people of Menasha and we knew we were acting along the right lines."

LINCOLN IS YOUTH'S MODEL
Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college, who was the principal speaker, gave an address on Abraham Lincoln. He said he felt it a privilege at any time to speak on Abraham Lincoln, and that every boy and every man should know him. He said he would like to put a course in the high school for several reasons. It would be biographical and, further, it would be a great way to study history, for you study Abraham Lincoln.

Lincoln is the most loved by the north and south of any citizen America has produced, said the speaker. Lincoln is more alive today because we are further from him. Lincoln was uncommonly common. His origin was common. He had remarkable ancestors, however. "Someone told me," said the speaker, "that Lincoln was not an educated man. He was one of the best educated men America has produced. What they mean is Lincoln was not schooled. There is only one man in a hundred or one in a thousand today who gets an education without schools."

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of E. H. Schultz, chairman, S. C. Lloyd, Len Julius, Edward Fox and Roy Walker.

The place holding the convention was selected at the last state convention, but the date has just been decided. The local area is advised to start training its drill team and marching club.

KEEP ON RIGHT SIDE OF LINE, CLUB WARNED

Former Neenah Pastor Bases Talk on Black Line in Center of Highways

Neenah—"The Black Line" the line in the center of a state highway was the subject of a short talk given Monday noon by the Rev. C. Heywood, pastor of the Waukegan Methodist church, at the weekly meeting of the Neenah club. "Always keep to the right," Mr. Heywood said, and you will stay out of danger, not only on the roads but in life. One may venture over the line and get on the wrong side once in a while during one's life, but sooner or later he is caught. On the road it may mean death, and in life it may mean the same thing. Unless we turn to the right side or stay on the right side of the better things in life we will never reach home. We are no privileged race and may fall like others in the past unless we appreciate the rights of others.

"The man who first had this idea of preventing accidents, will probably never know what a great thing he has accomplished and will never know how many lives he has saved. There are motorists who disregard the ruling and so there are in life, people who take a chance, once, twice and possibly the third time, but it may be the first or it may be the second chance when the smashup comes. Heed the warning, keep to the right, with the black line as a guide."

Kansas City Man Familiar With Plans For Conventions

HE FIXES IT

Kansas City—(AP)—Louis W. Shouse, who has arranged for the public presentation in Kansas City of every president since Roosevelt, is in charge of the workshop of potential president makers coming here in June.

Shouse is manager of Convention Hall, where the republican national convention will assemble June 12 to name the party's candidate for president. As such, he will oversee the greatest stir in the hall's history.

In 1901, after the death of the manager, Shouse went to the hall to help out. A short time afterward he was chosen manager and has been re-elected annually since. His first presidential guest was Theodore Roosevelt, who was tendered a huge reception there in 1903. William Howard Taft, while a candidate, was the guest of honor at a dinner in 1908.

President Wilson spoke in the hall several times during his two terms. A huge crowd gathered there June 22, 1922, to see President Harding, when he stopped during his ill-fated western swing. Three months later many of the same people gathered in the same setting at the Harding memorial service. The hall had not been used in the meantime.

As vice-president, Calvin Coolidge came to Convention Hall in October, 1921, to address the American Legion convention.

Senator James A. Reed, now a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, introduced the first president in the hall. He probably has addressed more gatherings there than any other man in political life. Shouse believes. Reed was mayor of Kansas City when he came here.

Shouse's life has been closely aligned with the hall's history. As a reporter for the Kansas City Times he covered the story of the fire that destroyed the building on April 4, 1909. He had covered the opening of the building less than a year before.

The democratic convention which nominated William Jennings Bryan was less than three months away and before the fire abated plans were being drawn for a new hall. Shouse reported the opening of the new hall 90 days later, and was active in reporting the convention.

'OBEY SCHOOL RULES' STUDENTS ARE URGED
Neenah Superintendent makes Short Talk on How to Show School Spirit

Neenah—School Spirit was subject of a short talk given Monday afternoon to the high school pupils by C. F. Hedges, superintendent of schools. Mr. Hedges spoke on the pupils pulling together, encouraging basketball players who are striving to win the first place in the conference, abiding by the rules of the teachers and the school, obeying training rules as put down by the coach and studying to make good in classes, all of which show school spirit, he claimed.

"There are some rules which are looked upon as strict, but they must be considered and enacted by the teachers in assisting the pupil to make good in his classes and for the welfare of the school in general." Loitering in the halls was one of the points brought out by Mr. Hedges, as one of the least heeded rules and which, when called to the pupils' attention, creates soreness.

This is but one of the seemingly unnecessary rulings but to allow it to continue creates a congestion and the pupils would be about the building all hours of the day when they should be in their classes.

NEENAH CAGERS TO MEET KAWS FRIDAY

Team Tied With Oconto for First Place in Conference League.

Neenah—The high school basketball team has three more games to play on its 1927-28 schedule in the Northwestern Conference league, all of which will be played in the home floor. Kaukauna high school team will come here Friday evening to play a return game. Menasha will play Neenah Friday evening, Feb. 21 at S. A. Cook armory, and the season will end Friday evening, March 2, with a game with the W. De Pere team at Roosevelt gymnasium. The Neenah team has lost but one game this season and is at present at the top of the league with the Oconto team. Oconto has two more teams to play while Neenah has three to play before the championship of the conference can be decided.

HUERTA CLEARED ON FEDERAL CHARGE

Former Mexican President Acquitted of Breaking Neutrality Laws

Los Angeles—(AP)—Adolfo De La Huerta Tuesday stood cleared of charges of conspiring to violate the United States neutrality laws which he was accused of breaking in an attempt to regain the power he held as provisional president of Mexico.

A jury in federal court Monday acquitted De La Huerta and four others. The latter four were Louis G. Alford, G. Moreth, Francisco Ferriz, and Enrique Berceola.

The prosecution based the charge mainly upon the fact that De La Huerta had sent to a representative in Tucson, Ariz., 20 rifles and about 2,800 rounds of ammunition. Defense Attorney Frank P. Dougherty ridiculed the government contention that the material was to be turned over to warring Yaqui tribes in the overthrow of the regime of President Calles.

The defense insisted that the guns were to be used only to police the city of Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, in case the Yaqui tribes invaded the town. De La Huerta said Gaylor both testified that they feared a "terrible situation" would result if Nogales fell to the Indians.

On the stand in his own defense, De La Huerta, testified that he had been compelled to leave Mexico because President Calles had adopted an anti-American policy, and that this made life impossible for him in his native country. Since his exile he has been living in Hollywood.

LINDY ARRIVES AS CROWD WAITS

was nearly the same distance. I skirted the west coast of Florida, north and flew directly toward St. Louis. It was from then on that I had to detour, though I encountered fog from the time I left the mainland.

It was only occasionally out of sight of the ground on the trip Monday. The flying ceiling was too low to circle over St. Louis as I had planned and so I headed directly for the field. The mouth of the Missouri river was a landmark for me."

The crowd of 800 people standing in a soaking rain at the field to welcome the good-will flier, grew apprehensive at 4 P. M. When an air mail plane took off and returned five minutes later unable to penetrate the dense fog and mist. Crowding about the dripping hangars they stared into the southeastern skies and the powerful electric beacon light swung to and fro, its beam penetrating the sodden heavens.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

There is nothing more interesting, or instructive in connection with Auction or Contract Bridge, than the problems which a Declarer is apt to be called upon to work out as soon as he sees the Dummy's hand. I am therefore continuing today, tomorrow and Thursday the series of such problems that started several weeks ago.

Today we will consider the following hand:

The contract is No Trump, South is the Declarer, and the question is: How should Declarer plan to play the hand?

He can see that he will take one Spade trick, two Heart tricks, three Club tricks, another Club if the ad-ground, the Lone Eagle landed and taxied his plane to a hangar.

GREETED BY COMRADES
Thrusting his long legs out of the cabin of the plane he was met by the reception committee and many of his comrades of the national guard and air mail routes. After posing for pictures he saw the plane placed safely in the hangar and then gave a short interview to newspapermen. Afterward Col. Lindbergh was taken to the home of a friend to spend the night.

"We" were at home again, the plane somewhat travel-stained and the pilot weary.

Lindbergh said he had enjoyed the trip, although the flying was done in the worst weather possible, according to the weather bureau.

The flyer asked to be allowed to retire early to get some rest for the exhibition which had been planned Tuesday as a tribute to the school children of St. Louis. The program called for a flight by Col. Lindbergh over the Mississippi river between the Eads and the four bridges with the children lined up along the levee. The flight

CORBETT GIVEN WARM WELCOME AT KENOSHA

More Than 200 Down-staters Gather to Greet Former Appleton Man

Hugh G. Corbett, former secretary of the chamber of commerce, was given a warm reception at Kenosha the scene of his new activities, at a banquet held in that city last week according to press dispatches from there.

Over 200 members of the chamber were present at the banquet and meeting and Mr. Corbett made a speech, outlining his plans of activity, following introductions.

The former Appleton man dwelt on the "idea behind the idea" as the motivating force for all progress in business, commerce, education, and achievements of every sort. He presented a vivid picture of the romance of business, showing how men with vision and ideas had the force of conviction and the foresight to carry out their dreams into great realities, "until the present generation and all future generations will have a more comfortable and more economical, and a more prosperous life."

"There are communities that are sick, almost dead, that have been turned into real live communities with a purpose and a future by a chamber of commerce," the speaker said. "The measure of their reincarnation is limited by the spirit of the citizens that go into the work of the chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce is the one co-ordinating agency in the city where everyone can help—where the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker offers his suggestions with those of the banker, the professor, and the manufacturer and each has equal consideration."

The speaker illustrated his talk with examples of great men and great minds who pioneered developments of every field—developments, he said, that have made America the workshop of the world.

"We all want to make the better city better, and to this end we pledge our service to Kenosha," he concluded.

LOCAL STUDENTS IN 'TWELFTH NIGHT' CAST

Some of the Leading Parts in Coming Play Taken by Appleton Boys

Five Appleton students at Lawrence college will appear in the cast of "Twelfth Night," Shakespearean production which is to be presented by Sunset players in the Memorial chapel Thursday evening, Feb. 23. One of the leads in the comedy, that of Sebastian, is to be handled by William Meyer, who was prominent in Appleton high school dramatic circles during his pre-collegiate career. Meyer also represented his school in oratory, and after entering college, was selected to play the part of Ern, a country boy, in the Sunset production "The Runaway Age," which was given in the chapel last fall.

Feste, the clown, who plays an important part in the conspiracies against Malvolio in "Twelfth Night," will be played by George Beckley, Jr., another Appleton boy. Ross Cannon, son of Rev. O. D. Cannon, will take the part of the rugged sea captain who acts as benefactor to Sebastian in the comedy. Two other Appleton students will also appear in "Twelfth Night," Margaret Heckle taking the part of a lady-in-waiting, and Kenneth Miles appearing as a courtier.

Students from around Appleton who are members of the cast are Elmer Ott, of Kaukauna, who is Nerr, Toby Belch and Henry Stowe, of Neenah, as Fabian.

Edward Detloff, business manager, reports the sale of tickets proceeding satisfactorily. The appointment of John Walter, president of Sunset, as stage manager has also been announced.

INVITE POST OFFICE BOWLERS TO TOURNEY

Appleton post office employees have been invited to enter a team in a post office employees bowling tournament at Oshkosh, the weekend of Feb. 25 and 26 or March 3 and 4. Only five man teams can be entered. The invitation has been extended to all offices near Oshkosh and is open to any postal employee from post master to messenger. Appleton teams have not been organized although it is expected there will be several entered.

NEW CANDIDATE

ALONZO F. WORKMAN

Duncan, Okla.—(AP)—The Rev. Alonzo F. Workman wants the Democrats to nominate him for president.

"I choose to run for president in 1928," he said in a telegram to the Democratic national committee in Washington.

Workman plans to get his name on the ballots of all states having presidential preference primaries. The minister desires to go to the White House because he believes that "the presidency of the United States is a spiritual office."

Besides filling a pulpit, Mr. Workman also operates two farms.

PADEREWSKI TO PLAY AT GREEN BAY MARCH 6

Ignace Jan Paderewski, acknowledged the world over as the greatest living pianist and perhaps the greatest of all concert pianists since Rubinstein, has appeared at the White House before President Coolidge and his guests and has started on the transcontinental tour which for the first time ever will bring him into Northeastern Wisconsin to Columbus Community Auditorium, Green Bay, Tuesday night, March 6.

It was after considerable negotiation that the Auditorium management was able to negotiate a Paderewski contract upon any basis whatsoever, in as much as Paderewski remains the highest priced artist in either Europe or America and the most difficult to secure in as much as his time is always contracted in advance of any tour and in his advanced age and the fact that he is appearing but twice a week instead of every other night as on earlier concert tours, reduces the number of cities which may secure his concert appearance.

Jerry Donahue, Sheboygan and Jacob L. Crane, Jr., consulting city planning engineer of Chicago.

Dean E. E. Turneure of the University college of engineering, who has just returned from a South American tour, will give results of his observation on engineering progress at a smoker Thursday night. Following a tradition, the society Friday night will join with the Madison Technical club in a banquet.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

By JANICE RANDALL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Writer Says Big Bags Not Test Of Sportsmanship

BY R. A. CLAFIN

The time will soon be here when we shall be pointing out the trails to lakes and streams where those in search of their favorite sport of fishing will find the best to be had. With the advance of the season of 1928 we shall receive the annual reminders that we have still with us the woefully large number of fish hogs who go forth, not with the intention of enjoying nature's donations in a safe, limited way, but possessed only with the desire to make a record of numbers caught. They will brag of their skill as fishermen and then throw most of their catch away, while at the same time they prepare for another trip.

It is more than a mere pity that such conditions still exist in spite of the worthy efforts of true sportsmen to alleviate them. Much of it is due to lack of proper education and the result of a wrong impression of the meaning of sport being given to the general public by the sportsmen. For years casually interested people have been led to believe that sport, in the fishing sense, was little more than the mere pleasure of catching a lot of fish, with, perhaps, the side attraction of a picnic in the outdoors. They have been led to understand that the evidence of good sport was in the size of the bag. They have been very largely brought into this frame of mind by big bag pictures and big bag stories.

To such people I would say, read some of the books of Dr. Henry Van Dyke, or George M. L. La Branche, in which you will learn how a half day was spent in capturing a single particularly worthy trout or bass. You will read how they realized great sport and satisfaction in matching wits and skill to the utmost against some wily old monster of the deep places.

It is this point of view which constitutes the line of demarcation between sport as it should be and the unfortunately more common conception of sport. It is therefore the duty of sportsmen, and of magazine publishers in particular, to reverse the order of the interpretations and make the true meaning of sport the popular meaning. Magazines would do a great service to ethical sport by refusing to publish big bag pictures, unless amply justified by such pictures do not interest the vast type of sportsman.

What the real sportsman wants to know, and what we intend to tell them in our articles from now on, is where to go to find yet remaining some primitive spot not cut into ruts by auto wheels, and where creditable specimens of fish may be taken, if the angler possesses the requisite skill and has the proper equipment in the way of tackle.

Sportsmanship is no longer the mere question of early days. Now we must know where to go and how to go to obtain the best sport.

THE DOUBLE CRISS-CROSS

It may be that the Democrats and Progressives will yet drive the people into renominating Coolidge for another term. Certain it is that the resolution adopted by the senate of the United States in favor of the retirement of presidents "after their second term," which however Coolidge has never had, will have that tendency. The whole thing is too transparent. The fear in the breasts of his political opponents of another Coolidge candidacy goes only to show the strength of the man.

A little understanding of political history during the last twenty years will serve to demonstrate that the resolution was put through by a coalition of Progressives and Democrats solely for the purpose of getting Mr. Coolidge out of the way and without a grain of genuineness in the asserted reason that it was for patriotic motives in the observance of the precedent established by General Washington. This is particularly true so far as the Democratic votes are concerned. In 1912 when Woodrow Wilson was nominated by the Democratic party for president, and later elected, the platform adopted by that party put it on record not only as against more than two terms for a president but actually as against more than one. It was a mere gesture for votes, and subsequent events showed that it was a very windy gesture. Upon the strength of it the Democratic party sought support and received it but when Mr. Wilson was elected nothing was ever done about it and it has stayed in the wastebasket ever since. Not only that but in defiance of their own platform, the Democrats again nominated and succeeded in reelecting Mr. Wilson. Fine evidence of what their platform meant to them! So far as good faith is concerned concerning the length of term of the presidency, the Democratic party has a record that sums up to zero. Its leaders however recognize the practical difficulty in defeating Coolidge because he has made good in every sense of the word. They should, we think, recognize the fact that the people are too intelligent to be frightened by any such scarecrow as they are attempting to raise. Were Mr. Coolidge a Democrat we would have all sorts of specious excuses from the Democratic party for his renomination. That is too plain.

The Progressives, like the Democrats, are not only actuated by motives of self-interest but they too have a dark past that rises up to haunt them. They recognize that if Mr. Coolidge would accept the nomination nothing short of an act of Providence could prevent him from receiving it. They believe that with Coolidge out of the field they may, through one sort of a coalition or another, make some headway for themselves. In short nothing is to be lost with Coolidge out of the way and everything is to be gained. They too have forgotten all about the momentous year of 1912, the forced candidacy of their idol, Theodore Roosevelt, who occupied exactly the same position as that now occupied by Coolidge, one elected term and part of another by succession from the vice-presidency. They have piously closed their eyes to all the fine words they uttered then that another term to Mr. Roosevelt would be but his second elected term, and therefore not a violation of the Washington precedent. Is there no such thing as political consistency? Here are these Progressives and Democrats with their checkered, rouged careers upon this subject, each having done the exact opposite of its present stand, and now rolling their eyes with sanctimonious holiness at the idea that the Republican party might do what they, themselves, have done. When they did it was right; if the Republicans do it it is "imperiling our free institutions." How far can they get in their pose as "defenders of the faith of the fathers," a faith they never espoused until they wanted to get a big man out of the way?

Little attacks by little men on big figures never hurt the latter but often help them. Just as Senator, Heflin's tirades against Governor Smith have improved the latter's chances for nomination so do these extreme efforts to sidetrack the Coolidge candidacy raise the man in the estimation of the people, for the public is quick to sense the underlying truth, to hear the harsh tone in the purring voice, to observe the dagger carried by Brutus in the folds of his toga.

Cannot we find someone to introduce in the senate a resolution terming it also unpatriotic for a senator to serve more than two elected terms? That would be the sort of a resolution that would show up these political votes for the seeming insincerity that is behind them.

HARMLESS PASTIME

Europe has for some generations now entertained itself with finding things to criticize in America, conditions to warn about and problems to deplore. We have become so accustomed to it that we would be lonesome without it. Now and then it is merited, but mostly it is just so much ado about nothing. During this generation the comment has all centered about money and our supposed attitude toward money. We fail to recognize ourself in any of the pictures they have drawn of us. But also we have refused to be disturbed by them. What does it matter? Let them alone at their harmless pastime.

But just recently has come a comment on a subject from a generation so far passed that it has been forgotten and now in consequence seems new. Professor Speyer, of the University of Brussels, is the latest of European savants to despair of the future of America, and the reason he picks is one so old that it sounds almost fresh, to wit: that the falling birth-rate of the whites, coupled with the growing birthrate of the Negroes, presages a disastrous race problem.

But, alas, the worthy professor has, as no worthy professor should, reached a conclusion without consideration of all the facts. While in this country, from which he has only lately returned, instead of depending too much on impressions, had he but consulted statistics, he would have found that notwithstanding the figures for their respective birth rates, the white population of the country is growing appreciably faster than the colored, the latter having declined 14.1 per cent of the total in 1890 to 9.9 per cent in 1920.

Immigration and a reduced infantile death rate are both in favor of the white race, as the professor could have found with but little trouble.

THE FRENCH FLIERS

It is about time that Americans woke up to the fact that two very remarkable foreign airmen are now in this country and deserve a good deal more of us than a polite conventional welcome. They are the French fliers, Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrun. These men are making the longest air journey yet attempted.

Last October they left Paris, flying to St. Louis in Senegal. They crossed the Atlantic ocean to Brazil. Since then they have visited every country in South and Central America. That is no mean task. They first touched this country at New Orleans, then moved on to Montgomery, Ala., on their way to Washington. When they reached Montgomery they had covered more than 15,000 miles. One of the marvels of their flight is that they have held to a pre-arranged itinerary with no mishap.

They deserve honor and enthusiastic acclaim right along with our own Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd. Surely Americans are intelligent enough to recognize their skill and generous enough to rejoice in their success. Perhaps our thrills are a little worn down by long cheering, but we ought to be able to rally a few more lusty shouts for such men as Costes and Lebrun.

OSTEOARTHRITIS, RHEUMATOID AND OTHER ESOTERIC TYPES

At the outset of this series of talks about arthritis I frankly avowed that I know less than most good doctors know about arthritis. At the same time I modestly declared that I know as much about rheumatism as any other doctor knows about it. That is nothing at all to speak of, as I hope the reader now perceives. Nobody knows anything about rheumatism for the simple reason that there is no such clinical entity. Arthritis is real enough. That means any and all forms of joint inflammation. Rheumatism doesn't mean a thing today. If you imagine it does, just look the word up in your dictionary and then consider the adoption of this honest term I suggest in its place—arthritis. I surely have no wish to be arbitrary or radical, but I do feel that there must be some disease or other that is not due to "taking cold."

I had planned to skip lightly over rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis and other esoteric varieties, as I thought the less said about things we don't understand the better for us all. But there seems to be a strong public demand for all the harrowing details of our aboriginal ignorance about these nefarious kinds of arthritis. So many correspondents caution me not to leave out their favorite form of arthritis, that I am constrained to offer a layman's description of each several model, taking pains at the same time not to make the picture so complete that any one may claim I have "hit his case."

Chronic osteoarthritis, usually involving one or perhaps a few joints, occurs in advanced life. Characteristic of this type of arthritis is its slow progress, with little or no disturbance of the patient's general health, prostration or hypertrophy. (Thickening, enlargement) of the affected joint or joints, and permanent deformity. This type often affects spinal joints.

Rheumatoid arthritis, also called chronic progressive polyarthritis (poly means many joints affected) and metabolic arthritis, though the last name is as fanciful as the first, for there is no evidence that the disease depends on any fault of metabolism. In this type of arthritis a characteristic feature is involvement of the small joints of the hands, with deflection of the fingers at the knuckles toward the ulnar side (little finger side). This type commonly begins in earlier adult life, seems more prevalent among women, and particularly women of middle age. There is no good reason to assume that the patient's age is a factor, however.

I can say no more about these noninfectious types of arthritis, because we really don't know anything about them.

There is a type of chronic progressive polyarthritis or "rheumatoid" arthritis (this term "rheumatoid" is utter hokum, for it means, like rheumatism, and that means nothing at all) that now and then occurs in children, and is called Still's disease. I regret that I know nothing whatever about Still's disease.

Peculiar spindle shaped swellings of some of the finger joints, called Heberden's nodes, may be noticed in one or more fingers of chronic arthritis, but do not signify anything in particular, for nodes are often present as the only indication of joint disease the individual ever presents.

Well, this is enough bad news—let's call it a day.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This Is Service for You

For no apparent reason I find myself being "laid to grow drowsy" early in the evening, that is, even before 10 o'clock. Formerly I seldom hit the hay before midnight. I am in good general health, a bit overweight, 35 years old. As for exercise, I usually walk to and from the office daily, a distance of about three miles in all. (D. F. A.)

Answer—Try this prescription: "The House of Fear," by Robert W. Service. Six chapters at bedtime. This will correct the trouble for several nights. Meanwhile, if you have a good dog, gun or wife to protect you, better let yourself catch up to the back door toward 10 at night and take a three mile stroll as a regular habit. Any man or woman who absorbs six miles of exercise on the hoof every day is not likely to be troubled with abnormal drowsiness or insomnia.

OUCH

Are there any conditions under which a person should not take a cold shower bath every morning? I am 16 years old. Mother says some people are harmed by cold showers. Another friend says "warm showers close the pores while cold showers do not." (Robert S.)

Answer—I could mention a long list of conditions, among them the fact that the cold is unpleasant on a nice warm skin in the early morning—at least I think so. But I advise you to keep right on with the habit, Robert. It is rather beneficial. Don't let 'em josh you about the opening or closing of the pores. There are no pores in the human hide, no openings that have such trap-door equipment. Personally, I prefer a cold air bath—probably that is just because I am prejudiced against the wet wash.

Practical Joke

Please give me your opinion of the enclosed "prescription." (J. J. McN.)

Answer—"The prescription" is a practical joke at the expense of the "rheumatism" recipe chosen by "eminent London doctors" to win a cash prize of £100 offered by Lord Amberst. In the concoction these "eminent London doctors" chose are mustard, salicylic acid, etc. The item says "the effect is often marvellous." Well, that's one way of describing emesis. It is a fairly good rule, when you encounter anything purporting to be the discovery or advice of an "eminent" but unidentified doctor or "specialist," to label it hokum. Perhaps the last irresponsible newspaper writer who retailed this "recipe" was serenely unaware of the fact that mustard is an emetic—or perhaps not.

WHAT A SPEECH MAY DO

Washington, D. C. Thirty-two years ago William Jennings Bryan made a speech that made him his party's candidate for the Presidency. A few days since, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, made a speech that, some of the political viscerates in this part of the woods are saying, may make him the Democratic standard bearer in 1928.

Bryan's speech was a vivid, fiery, thrilling presentation of what an awful thing he thought it would be to have mankind crucified on a cross of gold while at the same time somebody pressed down upon the brow of Labor a crown of thorns. It was delivered in a national convention that was in a bit of a quandary over what to do about free silver and the gold standard and that was certain of forcing a split in the party whatever it did. The oratorical effort of the young man from Nebraska decided the issue, and a considerable amount of history was made thereafter.

Senator Robinson's speech, on the other hand, was a quiet dignified plea for religious tolerance and a stern, emphatic rebuke to Senator Tom Heflin, of Alabama, for his intemperate attacks on the Catholic Church or on Catholics who aspire to be nominated and elect one of their number President of the United States. It was delivered on the floor of the Senate and it resulted in Senator Robinson's being religiously challenged by Senator Heflin, with an ensuing Democratic caucus and an overwhelming vote of confidence for the Senator from Arkansas. What further result will come from this altogether unusual speech is on the lap of the gods—or in the hands of the Democrats, next June to name their party's candidate for President.

Senator Robinson and Heflin have since delivered their speeches for the movie tone, or speaking movies, or whatever they have been christened—you see a man delivering an address and hear his voice at the same time, you know—and the film-voice has been presented all over the country. In a crowded Washington theater that seated 3000 or more people, the applause that greeted the two speakers was about evenly divided. Just what that means is a matter for individual interpretation, but it would seem to indicate that the religious question may be a live issue in the upcoming campaign.

WHAT SMITH FORCES MAY DO

This portentous possibility, of course, hinges upon the nomination of a Catholic for the Presidency by the Democrats, and Governor Al Smith, of N. Y., is not the only Catholic seriously considered in that connection, but at this time is the leading candidate of his party for presidential preference. Should the New York Governor be nominated at Houston, the war will be on, and it may be of a bitterness such as no national campaign has developed.

But in event it is demonstrated that Governor Smith can not be nominated despite the fact that at the outset he has more votes than any other candidate before the Houston convention, what will happen? What more natural than that the Smith forces should turn to Senator Robinson?

The Arkansas statesman has made it clear that while he is a Protestant he is not anti-Catholic. He has said that no man should be barred from aspiring to the Presidency or any other office because of his church affiliations. In fact, he has made himself the kind of candidate whom the Smith forces can support with enthusiasm when they see that they can not put their man over.

And that is a matter to which Democratic leaders are giving prayerful thought. They want their party to be reasonably intact after the presidential nomination has been made, and if Smith should be rejected they want to be sure of choosing a candidate who will be acceptable to the Empire State's Governor and the Church with which he is identified. Not that any of the leaders think that any church should be permitted to dictate or to censor the party's action, but that they all realize that the Catholic vote is a big factor in their party and that it will be good politics to name a candidate who has done something to commend him to that element.

Senator Robinson has done that. He has taken a fall out of Senator Heflin, the arch-enemy of Catholicism, and he has been sustained by the votes of his colleagues. He was the "favorite son" of his State in the 1924 Democratic Convention. He will be there, at least, at Houston. He may be more.

THE ARKANSAS SYSTEM

Down in Arkansas when they decide to go in for politics, they waste no time about it and the people see to it that when a young man starts right in the public service he is promoted from time to time. "Joe" Robinson, having been graduated from the University of Arkansas and taken a law course at the University of Virginia, entered upon the practice of his profession in 1895. That same year he entered politics, and was elected to the state legislature. Seven years later he came to Washington as a member of the lower house of Congress and served four terms.

While he was still a Representative he was elected Governor of his State in 1912. He resigned his seat in the House on January 14, 1913, and was inaugurated Governor the following day. Then Senator Jeff Davis died suddenly and the legislature on January 28 elected Robinson as his successor. It is said to be a unique record that a man should have been a Representative in Congress, Governor of his State, and United States Senator, all within a period of two weeks. Robinson did not resign the governorship and take his seat in the Senate, however, until March 10, following. He has been reelected Senator twice, his present term expiring March 4, 1931. Senator Robinson became the titular leader of his party in the Senate when former Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, laid down the burden of the job. He has made a record that marks him as a leader who really leads, and, on occasion, can drive. He is well liked by Republican Senators, as well as by his party colleagues. He is in his fifty-sixth year, which places him in the presidential running so far as age goes.

It is interesting to note that Senator Heflin's career has run parallel with that of Senator Robinson in several particulars. He is almost three years older than the gentleman from Arkansas and began the practice of law two years earlier, but he, too, went into politics almost immediately he had been admitted to the bar. Heflin held several minor offices, including that of member of his state legislature, and he came to Washington as a member of the 58th Congress, the same one that witnessed Robinson's debut upon the national stage. He did not make the grade to the Senate, however, until 1920, seven years after Robinson had entered that body. His present term also expires in 1931.

In view of the possibility that he may be in the presidential running it may be well to call attention to the fact that as Governor of his State Senator Robinson signed a prohibitory law. As a candidate for Governor he had said that he favored local option, but that if the legislature passed a dry bill he would approve it, and the legislature gave him a chance to make good that pledge.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story is laid in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '70's, when a fight was being waged by the "Boomers" for the opening of the territory to settlement.

Chief characters are:
TONY HARRISON, murdered at 13 when his father was orphaned in a poker game;
PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, Indian interpreter and showman;
JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;
TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K.

Rita, his daughter.
Moore is one of the chief opponents of the movement to open Oklahoma. DAVID PAYNE, leader of the movement, dies suddenly and Tony in his loyalty to Moore is troubled because of his sympathy for Payne's cause.

He tries to forget Rita Moore, and accompanies Pawnee Bill and BIF FAILO on a wild west show tour. After many adventures he returns, but Rita comes back for a visit and he is unable to keep from declaring his love for her. When she tearfully admits she is engaged to another, he leaves the ranch and disappears.

When Pawnee Bill organizes his own wild west show, Tony goes with it. Two days before he and Tony go to Wichita to lead the movement for the opening of Oklahoma.

CHAPTER XXXIX
He reviewed the odd chain of circumstances that had brought him to his present position. What, he asked himself, would Titus Moore and Joe Craig say if they knew he had allied himself with the forces against which Moore's benefactor, had been contending for years?

A Boomer—word of anathema to Titus Moore! The man no doubt would think he had turned on him like an ungrateful dog.

"I couldn't blame him," Tony told himself. "If he accused me of biting the hand that fed me."

Two days before he had written to Joe Craig, expressing his sorrow at Mrs. Moore's death and his complete sympathy for the colonel and Rita. About his plans or his whereabouts he had said nothing.

It hurt him more than ever, now that the tragedy of death had fallen on the Moore family, to think of the disgraceful spectacle he had made of himself before Rita's eyes in Washington. The memory of it invariably evoked in him a mood of terrible self-chastisement in which the old resentment against Rita vanished in a flood of pity for her. For himself on these occasions he felt nothing but contempt, but underneath it remained a stinging bitterness, a heaving restlessness. He felt the need of some powerful, wrenching antidote.

"Perhaps it's here," he told himself, thinking of the thousands of homeless camping outside of Wichita with the forces against which Moore's benefactor, had been contending for years.

The Pawnee Bill Oklahoma Colonization Company had branches in many cities, and as far west as Denver and east as Chicago there were Oklahoma colonies. Landsharks and confidence men saw their opportunity and in distant cities they preyed on the credulity of the ignorant, assuring There'll be branches, later in other cities. Dues, two dollars to join and two dollars a year—but she'll be on—enrolled within a year, Tony, you can bet on that."

The younger man felt his enthusiasm. "And what are we to do—wait for it to open?"

"Force the government's hand, by God! This winter we'll be busy organizing, but before spring we go in—and stay."

"Resistance?"

"I hope it won't be necessary," he frowned. "If the troops—"

"It's a serious thing to resist the government with a show of force. It's rebellion. If the soldiers fire on us—"

Pawnee Bill chewed his lip thoughtfully. "But if they know we're ready to rebel—if they realize just how serious the situation is—they might do something. Bloodshed's bad business. Give me time. I'll have a plan."

"You can count on me in anything, you do," Harrison grinned. "About your finances, he began. 'I'm right on rock bottom.'"

"Don't worry, said Pawnee Bill and patted his hip pocket. 'I'm in funds once more. I've already wired to have our horses shipped on. Right now I'm hungry. That banquet didn't do me a bit of good; I was worried all through the meal about the speech I'd have to make.'"

The winter that ensued was one of cruel hardship on the Boomers encamped outside of several Kansas cities. In Wichita there were correspondents from many eastern newspapers, for the country at large was keenly interested in the Oklahoma fight, and these wired back stories of privation and hunger and suffering from the cold. In December and January many of the less hardy spirits, clanked in the rickety wagons that carried all their possessions and turned back in defeat. Pawnee Bill did what he could to bolster up their flagging courage; he and Tony Harrison rode from town to town—Caldwell, Hallowell, Arkansas City—breathing messages of encouragement, calling on them to wait.

"But we're tired of waiting. We've waited four years."

"A few weeks; that's all. Maybe not that long. I'll be back again soon—with news. Be ready to move at a minute's notice."

Thus he went from camp to camp, saying optimistic things that he himself dared not believe—anything to keep up their morale. They believed in him, but what did more than anything else to sustain them was the influx of more homeseekers. These came by the hundreds, in schooner wagons, carts, on horseback, by train, and pitched camp along the border, breathing a hopefulness that inspired those who had waited through the weary months and years.

The Pawnee Bill Oklahoma Colonization Company had branches in many cities, and as far west as Denver and east as Chicago there were Oklahoma colonies. Landsharks and confidence men saw their opportunity and in distant cities they preyed on the credulity of the ignorant, assuring homesites for a small payment, promising everything and anything. The Springer bull, described as "an act to organize the Territory of Oklahoma and for other purposes," was before Congress. If it passed—

"But I'm not too optimistic," Pawnee Bill told Tony Harrison. "If things go along as they have been, the cattlemen will look it. It's about time to force their hand. All right, we'll line up on the border, and we'll send word that we're going in and that if they try to put us out we'll drag the cattlemen out with us—Rita down their fences, run off their hords—anything."

Tony shuddered. Open warfare on Titus Moore at last, he thought. But he nodded assent. "I said I'd stick with you," he said, his face strangely white.

From Wichita the wagons moved southward to come to a halt on the border of the Cherokee Strip, that unbroken line of wagons and tents. They waited for the word to send them forward, waited grimly, and defiantly. South of them they could see the blue uniforms of United States cavalry, doubtless waiting to contest their entry, and many shuddered. The more time passed and wondered and thought of their women and children.

Thus they waited, while Pawnee Bill and Tony Harrison moved among them and tried to answer the thousands of questions hurled at them. Word came that the cattlemen intended to contest the crossing of the Strip.

"Bluff," Pawnee Bill said to Tony. "There's worried about what's going to happen to their ranches. If this bunch turns loose bent on destruction, I'm waiting for word from Washington. If it isn't what I'm expecting it will be, we move in within a week."

They sat their horses at the edge of the Boomer camp just south of Arkansas City. The older man's gaze swept along the line of wagons that stretched as far as the eye could see. "Just waiting to go," he said. "Nothing will get them back much longer."

"There are hundreds in Oklahoma right now," he said. "These people know it. I can't see them backing out and waiting for the opening so they won't have to move the stock." He swore softly. "We've done all we could to stop it. The people who are going in any day will be the first to see it. Those two horses, those ponies, you see coming? That's all in the pay of the cattlemen."

He pointed in the direction of two horses, each looking men, one with a white blaze, the other with a white blaze and a small eye.

"I can't see them easily as they appear," he said. "Look at that question. The cattlemen are going to cross the Strip. What will happen then?"

"What I don't know I'd been doing for a month, though. Can you tell me?"

"I don't know myself," remarked Tony. "I'm closer to Pawnee Bill. These men are waiting for the word to send them forward, waited grimly, and defiantly. South of them they could see the blue uniforms of United States cavalry, doubtless waiting to contest their entry, and many shuddered. The more time passed and wondered and thought of their women and children."

Thus they waited, while Pawnee Bill and Tony Harrison moved among them and tried to answer the thousands of questions hurled at them. Word came that the cattlemen intended to contest the crossing of the Strip.

"Bluff," Pawnee Bill said to Tony. "There's worried about what's going to happen to their ranches. If this bunch turns loose bent on destruction, I'm waiting for word from Washington. If it isn't what I'm expecting it will be, we move in within a week."

They sat their horses at the edge of the Boomer camp just south of Arkansas City. The older man's gaze swept along the line of wagons that stretched as far as the eye could see. "Just waiting to go," he said. "Nothing will get them back much longer."

"There are hundreds in Oklahoma right now," he said. "These people know it. I can't see them backing out and waiting for the opening so they won't have to move the stock." He swore softly. "We've done all we could to stop it. The people who are going in any day will be the first to see it. Those two horses, those ponies, you see coming? That's all in the pay of the cattlemen."

He pointed in the direction of two horses, each looking men, one with a white blaze, the other with a white blaze and a small eye.

"I can't see them easily as they appear," he said. "Look at that question. The cattlemen are going to cross the Strip. What will happen then?"

"What I don't know I'd been doing for a month, though. Can you tell me?"

"I don't know myself," remarked Tony. "I'm closer to Pawnee Bill. These men are waiting for the word to send them forward, waited grimly, and defiantly. South of them they could see the blue uniforms of United States cavalry, doubtless waiting to contest their entry, and many shuddered. The more time passed and wondered and thought of their women and children."

Russian Peasant Art At Exhibit Of Cultural Relations Society Of Russia Is Colorful

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

NEW YORK—Soviet Russia has come to America—in a colorful visual way. In the exhibition here of its education, handicraft, theater, science and industry, eye-minded Americans see for themselves what the Russians are doing under Soviet rule. For the exhibits cover the whole period since the 1917 revolution. The Cultural Relations Society of Russia brought the exhibition here and is to take it to many other American cities after its New York stay.

The diversity and extent of Russian native talent is astounding. The exhibition includes everything from crude, gaudy peasant toys to modernistic architecture; from cheap calico prints in garish hues to delicately illuminated lacquered jewel boxes fashioned by peasants in Palekh who inherited their art from centuries of icon-making ancestors; from elementary peasant utensils to spectacularly new and gorgeous stage sets.

MOST INTERESTING

To the laymen and laywoman the porcelains, china, peasant handicraft and textiles present the most interesting spectacle.

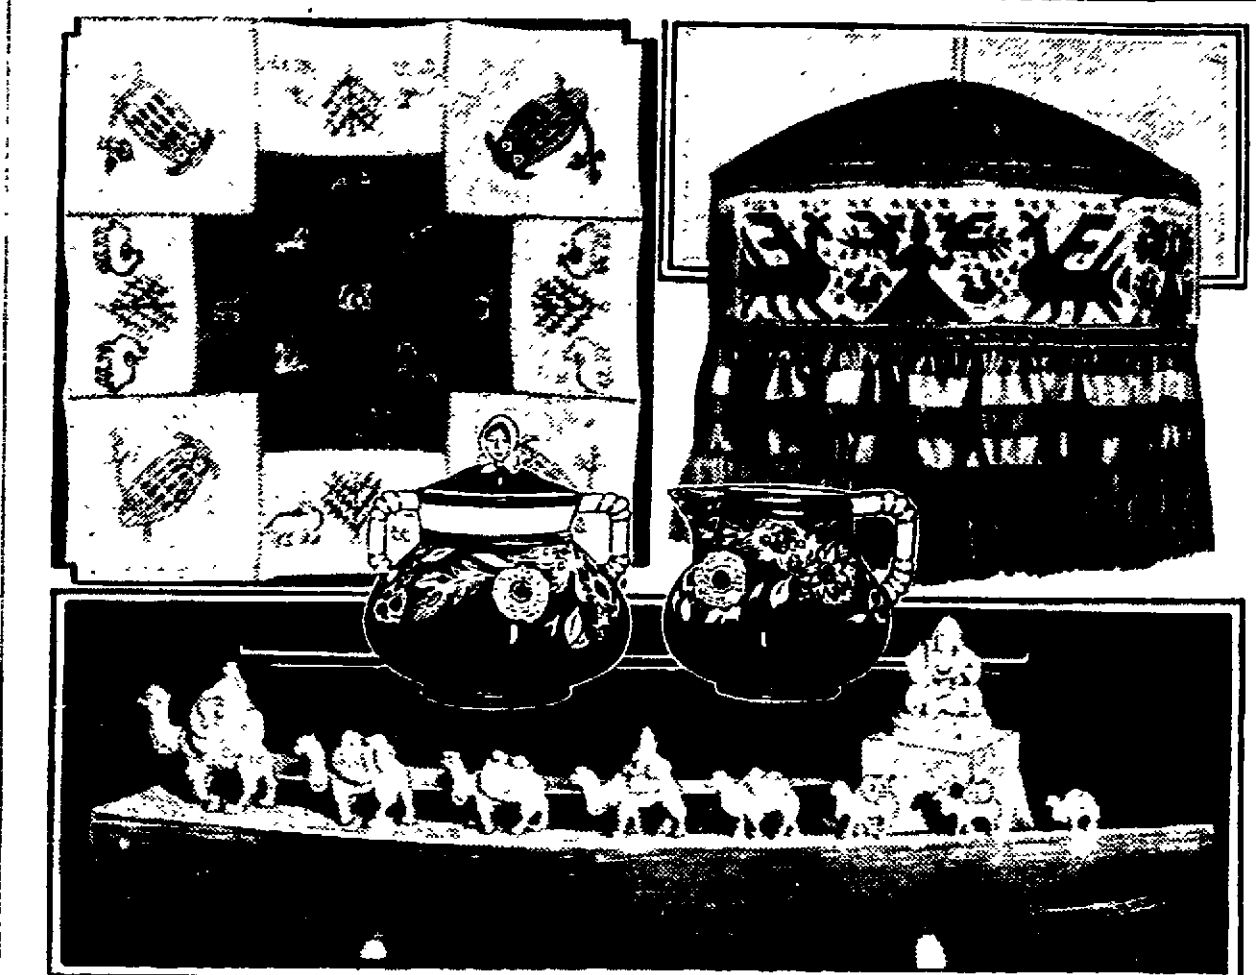

Everywhere there is color—whether it be a hanging of russet and crimson, orange, black and blue, whether it is the gaudy red and gold lacquer work in the bowls, pitchers, spoons and platters of the peasant dishes, the richly lined rugs or vivid prints.

Of the new china—made in old Czarist factories—some fascinating shapes and decorations appear. One tea set, baked before the Czar's downfall, has the old double crown stamp on the bottom. The sugar bowl was decorated with a peasant's face and with akimbo arms for handles. To make it doubly interesting they put the sickle and the hammer Soviet stamp on the bottom too. Other sets of China show the Mongolian influence on southern Russia in their designs.

Still others have skyscraper motifs like our own modern products. Unbelievably delicate and skillfully done are some carvings of mammoth tusks, made by peasants during the long ten-months winter in far northern Yakutsk. Paper cutters, cigarette cases, umbrellas and cane handles, decorative combs, pins and larger things such as desk sets, are carved from single pieces of this ivory. Most valuable of these is a desk set with holder and inkstand, eighteen inches long, carved from a single tusk. Its camel train for decoration shows the influence of the Axminskis Russians who came from far away to trade with Yakutsk.

TEXTILED DAILY LIFE
The textiles have unusual richness in the vivid application of daily life to the designs. On tablecloths, bridge covers, lamp shades, birds, beasts and fish all play a part. New smocks, of hand-woven fine linen, have modernistic designs in brilliant tones. But most of this type of Coustarni work shows the influence of the humble bearded or the nearby woods or rivers.

A new bridge cover uses a vivid orange for its center, squares all put in by hand of course. Each deep orange square has a rooster, snake, fish or horse in it, while the outside squares have dark figures embroidered in greens, blues, yellows and reds. Altogether a most ornamental piece. A lamp shade in reds, black and white has a hand-made panel of cross-stitch, with a woman, her chickens and reindeer worked alongside her.

New Russian peasant art speaks for itself in gay tones: (left) bridge cloth with barnyard figures strutting on gay orange squares for the center; (right) rich lamp shade of red satin with heavy fringe and a panel of cross-stitched figures in the traditional red-white combination showing a woman, her chickens and reindeer; (center) new-old china, a Czarist tea-set redecorated with a peasant design, the sugar bowl a woman with arms akimbo; (bottom) a single piece of pre-historic mammoth tusk ivory skillfully carved into a desk-set with a camel train for decoration and a buddha for the ink-well top.

H.T. TUCKS
Tuck treatments mark new imported hats as unusual. The brim of a large drooping natural bakou has two-inch tucks from the crown. Flowers trim it.

NEW RIBBONS
Creme de chine ribbon and a new crepe de chine ribbon are the new spring. A rustic straw braid in natural shade has a wide brim on one side, the other short brim augmented by a big crepe de chine bow.

PEPPERMINI STRIPE
A batiste tennis dress uses a peppermint stripe pattern in gay red and white. It has gathered skirt, self-lap, cap sleeves and a Lord Byron collar.

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

So it was that when Bob Hathaway entered Faith's hospital room, his face glowing with joy, he found his wife sitting up in bed, her brown eyes fixed upon Cherry in horrified protest. "Oh, Cherry!" Faith was crying, "you haven't mailed the letter, have you?"

"What's up now?" Bob demanded almost irritably, a frown drawing a curtain over his joy. Would there never be any privacy for him and Faith? His sacred moment was shattered.

"Cherry has written Nils that she can't marry him because she doesn't love him," Faith told him, her eyes meeting his with a new, deep, sweet intimacy. She had known, from his flushed, radiant face, as soon as he had opened the door, that the doctor had told him of the incredible good news, and she sympathized with him in his sulky impatience to be alone with her. But it was so terribly important that Cherry be made happy, too. "She's pretending, even to me, that she doesn't love him, darling," and she laughed softly. "She's doing it for my sake, Bob, so that her selfish sister can go on monopolizing her baby. Shall we—tell her now, Bob?"

Bob looked bewildered, and then at the joyous deeply significant look in his wife's eyes, his face cleared, glowing again. "Of course we want Cherry to be the first to know," he agreed. He crossed to his sister-in-law and hugged her close. "You've been a peach, honey, but there's no use in your going on with this self-sacrifice business. Is there, Faith?"

"You two can't pretend that Faith doesn't want Hope," Cherry cried, tell-tale tears welling up in her eyes. "The very thought of losing the baby nearly killed her."

"Darling little idiot!" Faith laughed shakily, stretching out her sister. "Can't you guess? I'm going to have a baby of my own to take Hope's place."

Miss Sutton, who had been busily pretending not to listen, tiptoed from the room as Cherry's excited voice shrilled:

"Oh, Faith! Honestly? You're not fooling me?"

Bob sat down upon the edge of the bed and put his arms about Faith. Check to check, blue eyes and brown glistening with tears of joy, they faced Cherry, who could doubt no longer.

The beautiful little face, which had been so pale, bloomed with sudden richness. "I'm glad for you both, darlings, so frightfully glad that I think I'll have to cry a bit myself."

"Not glad for yourself, honey?" Faith reminded her. "It was my condition as the doctor calls it, that made me behave so crazily. You know I want you to be happy, that I couldn't be happy myself if I knew I had cheated you. You haven't mailed that letter to Nils, have you?"

"No," Cherry admitted reluctantly. "And I won't mail it now, but I'm afraid you two will have to put up with Hope and me indefinitely."

"Put up with you?" Faith scoffed. "You weren't really telling the truth when you said you didn't love Nils, were you? I can't believe it!"

"Of course she's in love with him," Bob reassured her. "If you had listened to as many of her agonized confessions as I have—"

"But I don't think he loves me," Cherry broke in with a desolate cry. "I haven't had a line from him since he left."

NEXT: Faith goes home.

DO WOMEN WORK BECAUSE THEY WORRY ABOUT JOB?

Denver, Colo.—(P)—Women in public office work harder than men, in the opinion of Mrs. Elizabeth Quereau, a member of the Colorado civil service commission.

"Women work hard because they are afraid of losing their jobs," she says. "They know that their sex is somewhat of a handicap, especially in the political world, in getting another job."

BEAUTY HOW AND WHY GLASSES NEEDN'T BE UNBECOMING Ann Alysis

BY ANN ALYSIS
TIME was when eye glasses were considered things of utility and necessity and nothing more was expected of them than that they serve these purposes. Then some visionary lover conceived the idea of making a virtue of necessity and applied the principles of art to this perfectly conspicuous article of dress with the result that now it is possible to have glasses that are both interesting and becoming.

Until recently glasses were made only in shape. They were clamped to the face with a strap or were fastened to the convenient ears with loops, glistering gold or silver bows. Today there are many intriguing shapes—square, round, oval, cat's paw and leaf shape. By carefully studying your type of face with the various types it is possible to get a very becoming effect.

There are other things to be considered as well as the shape of the lens; for instance, whether rimless or rimless glasses should be chosen. Glasses are your choice, remember: your appearance may be made marred by the shape of the piece metal or shell which bridges the nose. There are two patterns in general use. One rests on the bridge of the nose and has the effect of a ring across it. The other style, arched, does not break the natural line of our most prominent feature.

It will well repay you to study these important features with the aid of a mirror. Upon the proper selection will depend whether your appearance is to be distinguished or commonplace.

NEXT: Richmond or rimless glasses.

ARE YOU GIVING YOUR STORE A SQUARE DEAL?

Some of the better stores, we hear, are now tagging their garments: "This will not wear well." In other words, it may be smart, but if you buy it you must remember that you are buying it for that reason and not for durability.

I am more and more convinced that most stores are giving their customers a square deal than many customers give the store. I know a woman who is sending back an evening dress today, which she wore last night. "Why not," she reasons, "I give them plenty of business and I really won't need an evening dress again for a year." When I suppose, she will do the same coy little trick all over again.

MILNE'S VERSE AGAIN IS SET TO GOOD MUSIC

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Author of "The Magic Map," etc. Once again A. A. Milne's inimitable verse has been put to music by H. Fraser-Simson. The decorations are also once more by E. H. Shepard and are as gratifying and as charming as can be.

"Songs From Now We Are Six" (E. P. Dutton & Co.) have such nice directions for execution! "Cradle Song" is, of course, to be played "dreamily." In "Twice Times," the passage which carries the words, "And Bad Bear's thingummies were worn right through" is to be played "jauntily." After all, that is the only attitude toward worn thingummies! It may be a little bit hard to play "sneezily" but that description is amplified by a parenthetic "a tempo."

The music is appropriate to the words, which is sufficient to say that it is very good. But it is not easy for the novice to play. Young children who have studied only a little music will not be able to accompany themselves, nor will parents who have forgotten most of what they have learned be able musically to navigate with ease. So put them before your best pianist-friend and then enjoy them.

"Songs from Mother Goose," set to music by Sidney Homer as sung by Madame Homer, with illustrations by Maginel Wright Enright (The Macmillan Co.), are, on the other hand, very easy to play, and will be appreciated by beginners in the vocal and pianoforte arts.

Very much older readers who have the opportunity of hearing operas will find most useful a volume which has just been issued in a new edition by Thomas Y. Crowell Co. It is called "Opera Synopses," and is by J. Walker McSpadden. One hundred and fifty-two operas are here outlined and the book is small in size and easy to carry. The descriptions are brief and coherent, and helpful little biographical notes about the composers are included.

JUSTICE HALTS TRIAL, HOLDS CHURCH IN COURT

Mitchell, veteran justice of the peace, holding court on a Sunday afternoon to hear evidence in the case of two men caught in a liquor raid, he learned that many of the spectators had not attended church in years. He continued the cases, declared that anyone leaving the courtroom would be in contempt and ordered Henry Blount, known as the "raiding parson," to preach a sermon.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE big balloon soared 'round and 'round, and then it settled toward the ground. The Tinymites watched it till it came real close. Then Clowzy said, "It has a face. Well, goodness me, two great big eyes I plainly see. It seems that all its body is away up in its head."

The queer balloon bobbed 'round a while, and then it broke out in a smile. Said Clowzy, "He is friendly, and he's going to land, I hope. See how the breezes make him sail, and look, he seems to have a tail." "Ha, ha," laughed little Carp, "that is just a piece of rope."

They watched it dip and rise some more until all of their necks were sore. "I can't look up much longer," shouted Clowzy in despair. "I wish that it would go away, or else come right down here and play. Say, wouldn't it be fun if we could float up in the air?" "Oh, no," snapped Clowzy, "Not for me! I'm just as happy as can be with both my feet upon the ground. It's safer here, by far. We've taken trips up in the breeze and sailed the skies above the trees. I'm sure that I would much prefer to stay right where we are."

Just then the balloon came very low, and Clowzy shouted, "Say, I know how we can have a heap of fun. Let's try and grab the tail. Unless he makes an awful fuss, we'll pull him right down here with us. Perhaps if we are friendly, he will teach us how to sail."

So, when the rope came very near, the Tinymites rushed up with a cheer. They all grabbed hold and held on tight. And then there came a screech. Before the bunch could realize, the big balloon began to rise, and the little Tinymites were lifted in the air.

(The Tinymites have a thrilling ride in the next story.)

They Fail to do Their Best Without This Care at Home, Say Teachers

70,000 schools now help mothers do it

Actually at a disadvantage—in lessons and in play—for lack of this simple little care from mothers? That is true of many children, as school authorities have proved. Now they are launching a great health crusade. They are helping mothers teach children the value of this simple health habit—starting the day with a bowl of hot, cooked cereal.

Children in 70,000 school rooms today see this rule hung on the wall:

"Every boy and girl needs a hot cereal breakfast"

For 31 years health authorities have recommended Cream of Wheat as the ideal hot, cooked cereal for children. First, because it is rich in energy. Second, because Cream of Wheat is so easy for young digestions to handle. Third, because youngsters love its cream-taste. Given to your children regularly, Cream of Wheat Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

TOWNSEXPECT FAIR WILL BREAK RECORDS FOR
NUMBER OF EXHIBITS

Better Entertainment Will Be Provided Than Ever Before,
Committees Say

Kaukauna—All preparations for the mid-winter fair here Thursday and Friday have been completed. Exhibits will be shown in the high school, municipal building, city garage and high school auditorium. Farm and industrial exhibits will be shown in the garage while the talks will be given in the high school assembly rooms. School exhibits and women's domestic exhibits will be in the high school building. The health clinic will be on the second floor of the municipal building and the farm and industrial exhibits will be on display in the city garage. About two-thirds of the building will be devoted to farm displays and the remainder to the industrial group.

A staff of doctors, including all the physicians in the city and a number of state doctors, will help make the health clinic of real benefit to people in the section of the county. The staff will be augmented by a large number of city and county nurses and several state social workers. At the last city council meeting the aldermen decided to take charge of the clinic and pay all expenses connected with it to the amount of $250 besides underwriting the fair for the usual $1,000.

Prize lists are more complete this year than at any of the four preceding fairs. Over a thousand dollars will be given away in attendance prizes and a similar amount will be awarded for prize winning exhibits.

All of the entertainment features will be held in the auditorium and a program will be presented on afternoon and evening of the two days. Admission will be free in the afternoon while a small charge will be made in the evening to help defray the expense of the added attractions. Dale Andrews, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that the program will be larger and better this year and higher type of entertainment will be shown. Chief of the features will be an old time fiddle's contest scheduled for Friday evening.

R. A. Amundsen, county agricultural agent and Peter Kauch, will be in charge of the agricultural exhibits. Room has been provided for an extra large number of exhibits.

Complete programs for the fair have been sent to every person living in the rural district for miles around Kaukauna. Wednesday will be the entry day but those unable to enter their displays on that day will be able to do so Thursday morning. They will be returned on Saturday after the fair.

J. F. Cavanaugh, city superintendent of schools, is chairman of the committee in charge of the school exhibits. About 22 rural schools will have booths in the high school building, exceeding by far the number of other years. Public and parochial schools in Kaukauna also will enter exhibits.

LA WRENCE CAGERS LOSE TO MARQUETTE IN HARD BATTLE

Murray Five Forced To Extend Self To Triumph In Final Period Of Game

Schneller Leads Vikings Until Removed from Game on Personal Fowls

Coach A. C. Denny's Lawrence college sophomores again proved to be not quite strong enough for Marquette university's strong basketball team Monday evening at Milwaukee they lost their second game to the Marquette team. The final score was 21-20. The two losses were the first ever suffered by a Denny-coached team by a Murray-coached five, but the Milwaukeeans have a team of vets to battle Denny's sophs.

The game was hard-fought throughout though the Milwaukee five had the edge almost continually, outscoring Lawrence 11-7 from the field during the fray, O'Donnell and Captain Razner led the winning attack, the former counting three baskets and a free throw for points and the latter four ringers and two free throws for 19 points. Schneller led the Vikings until he was removed on personals, accounting for three baskets and three free throws or 9 points. Rasmussen had two baskets, and Pierce and Hoffman, one each. Hoffman, Rasmussen and Slavic added free tries. Schneller missed three free throws, and Rasmussen, Hoffman and Slavic, one each. Marquette missed three. Hoffman worked at forward and guard, Rasmussen, Jackola and Rasmussen at forwards, Hilton at forward and center, Schneller at center and Slavic and Pierce at guards. Marquette started well and finished well, but in the Lawrence five came to life and the Hilltoppers were hard put bowling over the Vikings. The game was much closer than the score indicates.

With the regular lineup of O'Donnell, Razner, Andrew, Gebert and Padden on the floor, Marquette had a marked superiority over the invaders, but the reserves that were sent in near the end of the half and who carried on into the last chapter gave the Lawrence long shot artists enough chances to knot the count at one time at 19.

At the intermission the Hilltoppers were leading by 14 to 8, six of the Vikings points coming in the last two minutes. The 14-2 margin which the Blue and Gold quint held up to this time just about represented the respective abilities of the two teams as they played.

VIKINGS STAGE STRUCK
Lawrence appeared stage struck and only the Marquette failure to sink a number of pot shots after a series of beautiful plays had carried the ball up beneath the board kept the score as close as it was. O'Donnell and Razner, particularly, sparkled in the beautiful passing exhibition which left the Vikings at sea.

The lanky Schneller brought the visitors to life late in the first period and the early minutes of the last half and with the help of some spectacular shots by Hoffman, Rasmussen and Pierce tied it up at 19 all with 10 minutes gone.

M. U. FORGES AHEAD
That was too close for comfort and Andrew sank one from midfloor to put the Hilltoppers in front for good. Two free throws by Razner and a one-handed shot by the same gentleman on a follow up added momentum in the Marquette corner. The national counter from the corner made it 25 to 18, but Rasmussen netted one for Lawrence from the middle of the court. A pot shot by Gebert on a pretty fake and a free toss by Burge wound it up.

LEADERS FACE CRUCIAL GAMES IN BIG TEN RACE

Chicago—(P)—The field has thickened in the Western Conference basketball race with the likelihood that somebody may be elbowed out of the race in the eight games scheduled for the next six days.

Purdue leaped the first of its closely-spaced high hurdles by defeating Michigan Saturday night, and confronts both Illinois, the hopewreckers and Indiana, the Hoosier nemesis, this week.

Of Purdue's three nearest contenders, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Indiana, Northwestern does not meet Purdue.

Six of the conference teams have two contests carded for this week, three of them in the first and three in the second division. Purdue, Indiana and Northwestern are the top half squads and Chicago, Illinois and Ohio are the "also-rans" playing twice made.

The schedule works up to another climax Saturday night when Purdue travels to Indiana for their return combat. In the first meeting Purdue came out victor, 28 to 25.

Wisconsin, runner-up to Purdue, faces the comparatively weak Ohio State team, which has flashed only twice in six games. The addition of powerful reserve material made eligible by semester ended here, the Badgers are strongly hopeful of another victory while they await some disaster to Purdue which will throw a tie for leadership into their laps.

TILDEN, HUNTER AGREE TO REPRESENT NATION
New York—(P)—William T. Tilden, 11, and Francis T. Hunter, ranking no. 1 and 2 players, respectively, on the National Tennis list, are ready to compete for the United States in either the American Zone or Interzone Davis Cup play.

Contrary to published reports that the international doubles champions would compete only in the interzone competition or not at all, Tilden and Hunter announced here that they were ready to accede to the wishes of the Davis Cup committee even should they be forced to give up their contemplated trip abroad early this summer.

Altoona, Pa.—Al Corbett, Cleveland, knocked out Johnny Nelson, Newark, N. J. (2).

Neenah 25, Kaukauna 9.
New London 20, Clintonville 10.

Gillett 19, Oconto Falls 3.

Coach Ole Jorgenson's Neenah high school Goliathians went into a tie for first place in the Northwestern Wisconsin Interscholastic conference the past week when they whipped Kaukauna easily, 25-9. Oconto, the other conference team, which is battling for the top berth whipped West De Pere's hitherto first place team, 19-14, to hold its tie with Neenah. It also was aided by a 34-12 win over Oconto Falls, not reported before. The teams each have won five games and lost one.

West De Pere had a 5-1 standing also and was alone on top until it lost to Oconto when it was shoved to sixth place with a 5-2 mark. So close is the loop race that the first six teams, Neenah, Oconto, Shawano, Kaukauna, Two Rivers and West De Pere are less than a full game apart.

New London high school won its first conference game of the year, whipping Clintonville, 20-10, but Kaukauna, as mentioned above, failed to win and it may be the only team in the loop without a victory. Gillett also won its first game of the year and it was much sweeter because of the fact that the triumph was over its neighboring intense rival, Oconto Falls, and by a one-sided 19-5 score. Algoma squeezed out a 11-8 win over East De Pere in a tight defensive game and in the other battle of the weekend, Kaukauna beat Sturgeon Bay, 30-12.

CARD TRACK CAPTAIN DECLARED INELIGIBLE

Chicago—(P)—The annual quadrangular track meet between Ohio, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Chicago next Saturday night has lost another track captain. Gil Smith, leader of the Wisconsin team, Tuesday went on the ineligible list, where several of Northwestern's track stars already are immured.

Smith was Wisconsin's best bet in the quarter mile and sprints, and was anchor man on the mile relay team. The loss of Smith swings the odds toward Ohio State as favorite to win the meet.

STROHM, BREWER STAR, ASKS FOR MORE MONEY

Milwaukee—Harry Strohm, the ranking third baseman in the American association, is a sure enough "hold-out," he admitted Monday on his arrival from Kansas City for a short visit with friends prior to the trip south. "I haven't signed the 1928 Brewer contract that was offered me," he admitted readily, "and, furthermore, do not intend to. If the papers had been acceptable I would have signed and returned them weeks ago, instead of waiting until coming up here."

MYRICK RESIGNS AS DAVIS CUP CHAIRMAN

New York—(P)—Julian S. Myrick has decided to relinquish his post as chairman of the American Davis cup committee.

Mr. Myrick, first named chairman of the committee in 1920, has informed Samuel H. Collom, of Philadelphia, newly elected president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, that pressure of business will make it impossible for him to accept re-appointment.

Leads Big Ten Scorers
Ernest McCracken, just a sophomore, is making so many field goals for Purdue this year that he is expected to lead the Big Ten in scoring points.

STAR BADGER GUARDS

Madison—John Doyle and Lylean Miller, two husky six-footers, have graduated into the class of regulars on Coach Meanwell's Wisconsin cagers team, and incidentally, have supplied some very valuable weight and height to that group of midget basketballers.

Neither of these boys was seen in the starting lineup when the Wisconsin quintet stepped through its preliminary games without defeat. John Doyle, the rugged Irishman from Waukegan, was given his chance when the Badgers faced Ohio State in their opening Big Ten game. He replaced Hotchkiss, regular guard, who was sent to the hospital on the eve of the squad's departure for Columbus.

Doyle, a junior and reserve last season, played stellar ball for the entire first semester. His work at guard was in a good measure responsible for the victories over Ohio State, Minnesota and Michigan. In addition to his defensive ability, Doyle has learned to break into the offense with his smashing dribble.

Meanwell used Miller, who is also a junior, at forward last season, but the tall LaCrosse had become ineligible this fall. He has been drilling as a regular squad member since early fall, and just recently erased the blots on his scholastic record. Miller has been used both at forward and guard, so that he may be seen at either post as the Cardinals renew their battle for the title.

In Miller the Badgers boast a great individual player. He has the arms and height to make himself valuable in all departments of play. He is a ball hawk, a good dribbler, shoots with an uncanny eye and plays good defensive ball. There is not a more vicious player on the Wisconsin squad.

WINNERS DRAW CLOSER TO LEADING PURDUES
Chicago—(P)—The first three games of the eight of this week's basketball schedule in the Western Conference left the teams Tuesday in the same old places, with one exception, Chicago dropping below Illinois from sixth to seventh place.

The three winners drew closer to the unbeaten Purdue leader, and the three losers sank closer to the basement. Indiana and Northwestern rolled up big totals in their victories, while Michigan had a narrow squeak in the last few minutes.

Indiana's 43-26 victory over Ohio gave Branch McCracken, the Hoosier center, opportunity to protect his position as leading scorer from a brilliant rush by "Rut" Walters of Northwestern. The Northwestern squad put on extra speed to down Iowa, 49-28, and Walters scored 16 points. McCracken added 11 to his total, retaining his first position with 77 to 70 for Walters. Benny Oosterbaan dropped back to third place, since he gathered but four points, making his total 60.

The close-guarding Chicago team held Michigan's margin of victory to 26-23.

Purdue's battle with Illinois Tuesday night at Lafayette, the only game on the schedule, is a puzzle to the experts. The Illini will present the same patched-up lineup which upset Northwestern, one of the strong title contenders, last week.

POSTPONE 1ST VALLEY ICE SKATING TOURNEY

The first annual Fox River Valley Ice Skating tournament, which was to have been held in Appleton next Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the local high school and the Post-Crescent, has been postponed according to an announcement of Joseph Shields, high school athletic director. The mild weather of this winter was the direct cause of the postponement. None of the schools have had enough training to make a real showing in the events because of the weather.

FORMER SPANISH STAR WINS TENNIS TOURNEY

New York—(P)—Manuel Alonso former Spanish Davis cup star, has added the Heights Casing Invitation tennis tournament to his list of laurels after three days of play marked by a series of stunning upsets.

Alonso's victory in the finals Monday was the final blow for the form list for it was achieved at the expense of Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., disposing of Hunter rather easily, 6-1, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4.

Hunter's defeat came after the elimination of a number of other favorites in the earlier rounds, including John Van Ryn, of Princeton, Dr. George King, of New York, and Watson Washburn, of New York.

Hunter and William T. Tilden, II, international doubles champions, captured the doubles final after a hard-fought match with Henry Brunne and William S. Garland, 1927 Davis cup captain, 6-4, 8-6, 9-7.

TUESDAY GAMES

SATURDAY GAMES
Mulford's Clothiers vs Weber Cozy Knits. Co. D vs Fox River Paper Co.

A battle for third place will feature the two games of the Appleton Industrial-Commercial League Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, with the up and coming Citizens Bank five opposing the speedy Kimberly-Clark youngsters. In the other game of the evening the Coated Paper Co., league leaders, are easy favorites to whip the Kaukauna Y crew.

The Bankers after a slow start due to losing a pair of regular guards one to the Lawrence cage squad, came back a few weeks ago and have been undefeated in their last three starts. Two weeks ago they gave the strong Fox Rivers their second loss of the year in an overtime game, a decided upset, and last week they halted the Weber Cozy Knit five, considered a fairly strong team.

In an effort to maintain their win streak the Bankers face one of the toughest teams in the loop, the Kimberly-Clark sharpshooters and if the K-C men are "on," especially young LeMay, the local squad is in for a tough evening. The battle should be one of the best of the loop season.

The Kimberly five is in third place with a 6-3 mark and the Bankers are next in line with 5-3. A Bank win will shove the local quint into third above the losers and will place the winners just a half game behind the Fox Rivers in second. A K-C win will hold a third for the winners and move them closer to Fox River while

Oshkosh Elks bowling team took three games of a match with the Hoppy Sausage Girls of Appleton Sunday at the Arcade alleys, winning the match by 177 pins. HAHN FAILS FOR THIRD TIME TO BREAK RECORD

New York—(P)—For the third time this season, Lloyd Hahn has failed to establish a new indoor running mark chiefly because of conditions over which he had no control.

With the announced intention of seeking to shatter Jimmy Connolly's world's record for the two-thirds of a mile, Hahn appeared in a special event at the Elks interscholastic meet here Monday night only to find that Connolly and Willie Goodwin, scheduled to furnish the opposition for him, had failed to put in an appearance.

Hahn covered the distance in 2 minutes, 44 2-5 seconds.

the Bankers will hold fourth but in position to be tied by the Webers if that crew wins Saturday.

The Coated-Kaw Y game will not affect the standings, though a Kaw win will move that team closer to sixth place and pull the losers down closer to second in percentages.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Oshkosh high school's basketball team, by virtue of its 25-23 overtime victory over Appleton last week, now is a decided favorite to win the conference title, though the sledding will be plenty tough. Two teams, Manitowoc and West Green Bay, must be beaten by the Sawdusters to cinch the banner and Manitowoc is met at the Ship city.

Manitowoc has the biggest advantage in playing schedule and it would not be a surprise to see the Ships battling Oshkosh for the bunting. The Johnsons meet both Oshkosh and East Green Bay the second place team at Manitowoc before the season ends. Oshkosh, however, is counting on Appleton helping it win the banner by halting one of the chief contenders.

The Orange plays Manitowoc in this city and going like it did against Oshkosh should upset the Ships. As it was Appleton outscored Manitowoc on baskets by two ringers last time during the regular period of play, allowing the Ships to tie and the win in the overtime by terrible free throwing on Appleton's part. This fault now seems to be partially cured but you never can tell when it will break out again.

Overtime games seem to be an Appleton jinx nowadays. Both Manitowoc and Oshkosh, the leading contenders for the Valley title, beat the Orange that way this year while had the margin of victory been with Appleton it now would be sitting pretty on top of the conference heap. Last year Fondy won an overtime game here, much the same as Oshkosh, with a ringer in the final seconds. Appleton finished second in the loop, being the only team to beat the Fondy champs and on the Fondy floor at that. Victory in that overtime struggle with the Fruithorn here would have given Appleton the title.

LUTHERAN MEN TAKE 6-PIN BOWLING WIN

Heckert's Shoes girls pin five took two games of a match with a team of the first Lutheran church brotherhood Sunday at the Elk alleys, but the men won the match by six pins by a rally in the final game. Toledo Mudhens Given Good Chance To Repeat

Toledo, O.—(AP)—The Toledo Mudhens, champions of the American Association, and winners of the "Little World's Series" will go south early this year than on any previous training trip. The first squad will reach Bloxi, Miss., on Feb. 25, and the main contingent will come in a week later, giving the battersmen several days to prepare for batting practice. The Mudhens have lost a considerable number of the players who helped them win the American Association pennant last season, but the caliber of the new players would indicate that the club will again be in the race, if two capable infielders are obtained from the big leagues. The Chicago Cubs, Boston Braves and Philadelphia Athletics are expected to tender some aid to Toledo in return for players released to them during and after the 1937 race.

Outfielder, if he Mueller and Catcher Al D. Decker have been purchased from the New York Nationals, and Pitcher, if he Scott from the Phillies. The Mudhens look stronger on the mound in last year, with Palmero, Barry and Scott expected to figure as the leading hurlers and Minstead, McCall, Hantzenberg, Mann, Ryan and Miller likely to fill their own positions.

Batter, the late Hens look stronger in many in the minor leagues, and A. Decker, Norman, "Mick" McNamara and Stanford Hawley, who came from the East, are expected to be in the lineup. The Mudhens have been shown considerable promise with the Giants last season.

The first is the prime problem. Roy Thomas, who was about the best first baseman on the circuit last season, having Joe Mauer, who will be back, but none of the other three positions are settled. Bill Marriott will be available again for third base, but second base is wide open. Several territorial infielders will be given a chance to win a job. But Manager Stengel is keeping a close eye on major league clubs for the players he wants for these positions. Carl Husta from the Athletics is a candidate for shortstop.

The outfield should be as strong on the attack as last season and much better defensively. Bob Veach will play left field, but probably will take short vacants throughout the season and let Gus Carter, with Buffalo last year, fill in. Horace "Pip" Koehler, a great defensive player, will again be in center. He was purchased by the Cubs last fall, but returned when the Cubs landed "Kiki" Cuyler.

In right field will be the spectacular Heinie Mueller, who should be a star in this company. At least four of the regulars, Mueller, Veach, Grimes and Devorment, can be rated as members of any A. A. "winning crew," and with another hard hitting infielder, the club's batting strength should be a big factor in the race.

Manager Stengel is counting upon Ernie Mann, who in 1935 was the most effective pitcher in the association, to return to his old time form. Mann was troubled with a bad arm all last season. Minstead a southpaw and former Cub, did effective work throughout the season, and should have another good year on the firing line.

The schedule of spring games is the heaviest ever undertaken by a Toledo club. About 29 contests will be played in Bloxi and on the way north. These include games with Cleveland, Columbus, Louisville, Montreal and New Orleans prior to March 22, and with many Southern Association clubs on the way north after that date. The Boston Braves will be played in Toledo the Saturday and Sunday before the Association race opens.

BLOOD PRESSURE 200

Watch your blood pressure! If it's 180 or 200 instead of 120, it's a sign to be careful. High blood pressure cuts years off one's life. Heart palpitation, dizziness and difficulty are symptoms of high blood pressure, the result of our modern abnormal habits of life which put too great a strain upon the liver.

The liver becoming sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste, which then permeate the whole system, affecting heart, blood pressure and blood vessels. The liver needs a little help occasionally. Nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health.

Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few soon tell.

Free Test Take this aid to the doctor named below and he will give you a free, sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid, quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package!

This lovely melody has become, definitely, one of the big hits of the season. Victor Records offer you four splendid choices: Roger Wolfe Kahn in a smooth fox-trot. The Revelers in a wonderful reverie, or Jesse Crawford and his organ. And on the 12-inch record, Paul Whiteman turns the tune into an arresting, modern rhapsody.

You'll want at least one of these for your home. Come in —today!

The school buzzed with it the next day. The co-eds told their stories, all of them lauding Lockwill and Sinnott as heroes, much to the distaste of the pair. Cub Maddox, with some of his cronies around him, called to Jack on the campus: "When are you going to move into Vesper Hall, where you belong?" cried Cub. "When you move where Piper's going," retorted Jack.

But Piper's father came on, made a settlement and took the misguided fellow home. That same day, the town boy, Mouse, inquired the way to Jack's room and knocked.

"Trigger flew the burg," said Mouse, after he was admitted. "The judge soaked the other t'ree birds fer gamblin'. I tole him I didn't know who you guys was."

"Well, bunkie," said Jack to Jerry, when the town boy had taken his departure. "I guess we ought to thank our lucky stars we came out of that jolly old mess the way we did." "You'd never been in it only for me," reminded the Leaping Kangaroo. "I've had my lesson. I've thought it over, and I'm through gambling." "Atter of kid!" Jack cried, gripping his hand.

IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE AT NEW LONDON WILL SPONSOR REST ROOM

Need for Such a Commodity Has Long Been Felt and Women Take Action

New London—Tentative plans were announced Monday night at the regular meeting of the New London Improvement league for a rest room to be built by the league in the lot adjoining the city hall, now occupied by a small frame house. The league company is to own the property. The erection of a rest room has long been a subject of discussion, the need of such a room, for a meeting place for women from the country who come in for shopping being keenly felt.

While the league has but a small fund at the present time, and more money for the enterprise would be necessary, the committee believes the city, in a period of time, would take over the building and reimburse the league for it.

Plans are being drawn by Victor Thomas local architect and contractor, and suggestions and plans are to be received from Madison regarding the accepted models usually erected for such purposes.

It is planned to hold meetings of the league in the new building. The city hall heating plant will furnish heat, janitor service from the city hall will be supplied.

Those who compose the committee in charge of the proposition are Mrs. E. C. Jones, William Schaefer and Mrs. Carrie A. Hildebrand.

The league will in all probability sponsor Better Homes week, again this year, the matter having been brought up at the meeting Monday evening. It will be definitely decided at a meeting of the Home Economics department of the league at a special meeting to be called sometime this week.

Various reports were read by the league secretary, Mrs. William Beddie, and the treasurer, Mrs. C. D. Feathers. The latter, who headed the Christmas seal sale reported that the final amount raised through the sale of seals was $331.51.

FREMONT RESIDENTS GET NEW DIRECTORY

Sixteen Members of 4-H Club Gather Near Fremont for Social Time

Fremont—The new Weyauwega-Fremont Telephone Company directory, dated March 1, which contains over 800 names of telephone subscribers living in the two towns and adjoining rural districts, has appeared and copies have been distributed. The previous directory was issued in Dec. 1926, and had been supplemented with a sheet of additional subscribers' names and changes in telephone numbers last May.

George H. Dobbins, Waupaca county's representative on the Redger better tour through the Southland, says in a letter to his wife here that the 200 WSA men he met on the trip have been a wonderful reception at each city where stops were made.

Jacob Schaefer and Miss Adeline Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. John Drews, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Peters, Richard Schaefer, Elmer Schultz and Miss Ella Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jassman, Mr. and Mrs. John Hildebrand, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ratzburg and Mr. and Mrs. William Wolcott and daughters attended the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Rice and son Allan, in the town of Delmont near Almond village, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Rice, formerly Miss Jane Wolcott, is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott and formerly lived here.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice drowned in a water hole on their farm when they tried to save their son who broke through thin ice while skating, last Thursday evening. There are three other children in the family, all girls, age 10 and 5 years and 18 months.

The recent severe sleet storm caused only a small amount of damage to telephone wires and service here. Long distance telephone service was crippled and two lines were damaged. Sixteen members of the 4-H club attended a meeting held at the Robert Wells home, last Saturday afternoon. Club business was transacted, lunch was served and games were played. Prizes were won by Ruth Bauer and Verna Abraham. Others who attended the meeting were Muriel Abraham, Dolores, Dorothea and Jean Dobbins, Helen Bauer, Camilla Verdon, Lucie Kester, Leonette Verdon, Jean Redemann, Lucie Sherrburne, June Becker and Beatrice Lucitke.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaracolin, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FRED A. TOWSLEY, KAUKAUNA BANKER, DIES SUDDENLY

Fellow Officers Find His Body in Bank When They Arrive to Attend Meeting

Kaukauna—Fred A. Towsley, 69, cashier of the bank of Kaukauna, died early Monday evening of heart failure. Mr. Towsley was found in the director's room of the bank about 7:15 by the officers of the institution as they came to attend a meeting.

Mr. Towsley moved to Kaukauna from the south side of Kaukauna. He created the second residence of that section of the city. He was agent for the old Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western railroad and he has been identified with banking interests since 1881.

Mr. Towsley served the railroad company here as agent for several years before taking a position as cashier of the Kaukauna bank Aug. 1, 1917. The bank then was a privately owned institution and remained such until Sept. 1, 1925 when it was incorporated under the state laws. Mr. Towsley was named cashier and held that position up to his death.

Mr. Towsley was married in 1880 to Mrs. E. E. Towsley of Brownsville, Wis. They have one son, Charles D. Towsley, Kaukauna; two daughters, Mrs. H. W. Kirchner, Kaukauna; Mrs. Taylor Kinsell, Los Angeles, Calif.; three brothers, Lieut. C. D. Towsley, Milwaukee; H. A. Towsley, Los Angeles, Calif.; R. B. Towsley, Manitowish; one sister, Mrs. Alice, Kaukauna; and four grandchildren.

SEEKING UNIFORM ENTRANCE BLANKS

Colleges Seek Means of Getting Complete Data on Prospective Students

A uniform college entrance blank is the object of a great deal of investigation on the part of members of the national guidance committee of the state which met here Monday. A tentative blank form was drawn up at a last meeting of the committee and as discussed at the meeting Monday. The blank consists of three parts: a blank form for the applicant to fill out, a blank form for the applicant to fill out, and a blank form for the applicant to fill out.

Before this blank will prove efficient, cumulative record of the school life of the child is to be used as a guide toward college entrance. This will be the subject for the discussion at the next meeting of the committee April 4.

BADGERS FAGGED FROM LISTENING

Older Good-will Tourists Rest While "Youngsters" Dance in Texas

San Antonio, Tex., (P)—Fagged from a full day of sightseeing and listening to many tales of Sam Houston and his fort and the Alamo, the Badger good-will delegation Monday night left to the young membership of the dancing which took place on a hotel roof here for the Wisconsin tourists.

In bus private car and walking trips the delegation saw many things of interest in San Antonio. In informal meetings the member voted unanimously that San Antonio has more to show than any city thus far visited. They saw everything from a municipal roost for bats, which the city considers worth protecting, to three and a half million dollar combined bridge and dam. The latter was completed after the floods of the Antonio river had done a half million damage to the down town section.

The picturesque river flows through town, cutting through the business district. Almost every Badger on the trip visited Fort Sam Houston, headquarters of the eighth army corps area. More than $900,000 compose the troops now in the barracks.

Kelly, Lindbergh's schooling ground, the Duncan airplane assembling field, the government camps and station occupied the interests of the good-will delegation.

Leaving before midnight, the tourists went to see one of the country's greatest inland ports, Houston, which claims to be the largest cotton shipping port in the world.

BADGERS VISIT HOUSTON

Houston, Tex. (P)—Sightseeing was the chief activity for the Wisconsin delegation of good-will boosters who are touring the south when they entered Houston early Tuesday. The Badgers were shown the famous Houston ship channel which makes the city virtually a gulf port. The Wisconsinites were also taken for a ride in a new type of automobile bus. The new bus was with out the usual hood over the engine. The engine is constructed under the body, out of sight, leaving the vehicle not unlike a miniature bus. A visit to the beautiful campus of the Rice Institute was also on the program. The campus, much like a prairie in which the college stands in a central group, was made possible by a $20,000,000 endowment. All of the building appear new and are set in landscaped areas.

RESCIND ORDER ON TEMPORARY BRIDGE

War Department Engineer Says Pedestrians May Use Little Chute Structure

Permission for pedestrians to use the temporary bridge across the Fox river at Little Chute was granted Tuesday by E. M. Nissen, engineer in charge of the Milwaukee office of the United States war department, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner.

Earlier in the week Mr. Brusewitz had received a letter from Mr. Nissen ordering the temporary bridge to be removed immediately from the local walls on which it was resting. Mr. Nissen said the walls were not strong enough to support the structure. The temporary bridge was constructed to move traffic during installation of a new bridge.

Mr. Brusewitz said the old bridge had been moved to the west and was to be used by pedestrians and light traffic while the new bridge was being constructed.

When the order to remove the temporary bridge was received Mr. Brusewitz closed it to all but pedestrian traffic and he wrote to Milwaukee asking permission to walk over the structure. He explained that many residents of Little Chute worked in mills on the south side of the river and the bridge was their only means of crossing without going to Kimberly or Kaukauna.

Mr. Brusewitz said he thought the bridge was strong enough to carry light traffic without danger but that he would comply with the order of the war department. He said he would go to Milwaukee to discuss the matter with federal engineers.

GERALDINE ENRIKE Geraldine, nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Enrike of Kaukauna, died Tuesday morning at the home of her parents.

CIVIC COUNCIL WANTS CENTRALIZED BUDGET AND SOCIAL WORKER

Ten Organizations Join With Them and Cite Success in Other Cities

The Civic Council Monday evening at a regular monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A., voted for a centralized budget for charities and the employment of a social worker to administer the fund. Several nearby cities were cited as examples of what the social worker should do, among them Kaukauna. A desire to establish people economically was given as the motive back of the new movement.

During the discussion of the project, representatives of numerous civic and social organizations in the city gave the views of the groups they represented. Among the organizations passing favorable comment on the project were the Woman's club, the American Legion, Woman's Council, Ladies Auxiliary of Foresters, Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion, King's Daughters, Red Cross, Lions, and Rotary club. R. M. Eickmeyer, secretary of the council also made a report on conditions as they were in other cities with reference to centralized budget and social worker.

Following approval of the project the council voted to appoint a committee to find ways and means of carrying out the work. A committee to cooperate on the question of summer playgrounds was to be appointed Tuesday so that it might start conferences with city officials on the coming season's activities.

Another committee which was to be appointed Tuesday was on the question of crippled children in the county. The first meeting of this group will be held Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. at which time plans for a survey of crippled children in the county will be discussed. It is the aim of the council to have this survey taken before the end of the present school year.

The new school will accommodate 630 grade school pupils and will have 17 classrooms. Construction plans are such that new additions can be added to the building as they become necessary. ATTORNEYS WAIVE FINAL ARGUMENTS IN HILL DEFENSE

States Attorney Pleads for Long Imprisonment Rather Than Death

Ottawa, Ill., (P)—Hill to a final argument in defense of Harry Hill, charged with the murder of his mother, was waived Tuesday by his attorneys.

As State's Attorney Russell O. Hansen completed his closing statement in which he asked the jury not to send the youthful defendant to the electric chair but to find him guilty and imprison him, Chief Defense Attorney Arthur Shaw stopped up to Judge Joe A. Davis. After a moment of conference the judge turned to the court reporter and said:

"Let the record show that the defense has waived his right to final argument."

The move was made after the defense had heard the state request the jury not to kill the young man accused of shooting his mother and burying her body in the basement of her home.

Another factor believed to have influenced defense counsel was the rebuff which would have been made Wednesday by special prosecutor A. J. O'Connor. Attorney O'Connor has a wide reputation as a powerful orator.

Court was adjourned until afternoon when Judge Davis was to give his instructions to the jury. That would take about two hours and the case will be in the jury's hands at about 4 o'clock.

COURT IS QUIET

"It is not up to me to say what you shall do to the defendant," Hanson told the jurors. "But I'd like to give you my idea of the case if you will take it."

"I have in mind a picture of a shallow grave in a dark basement room. I can see the lips of that good christian woman, Mrs. Eliza Hill. I can hear what those lips would say could they move. It would be: 'You do not kill her boy.'"

"You must be stern for he must be punished. Don't be so dubious as to let him go without some punishment, imprisonment for a number of years, or for life."

The young state's attorney was speaking almost in a whisper when he completed his argument. The courtroom was in a deathlike stillness.

Harry, whom the attorney had called a "town dandy," was flushed. His eyes were riveted on the desk before him, where he appeared to be making marks with a pencil. His father, in the corner, almost out of sight of the courtroom fans, leaned back in a chair and from relief on hearing the attorney told the jury not to kill his boy.

The four defense attorneys appeared to be under great restraint when the argument was completed.

There was no demonstration when Judge Davis gave his instructions to the reporter as to the defense waiving right to argument.

CHICKS HATCHED EARLY SWELL POULTRY FARM PROFITS

STARTS LAYING EGGS WHEN PRICE HIGHEST SPECIALIST DECLARES

University of Wisconsin Man Urges Purchase of Quality Bred Stock

Like the proverbial early bird that catches the worm, the early chick out-rides and out-ears her sister pulch. Those who are hatched late in the season, she starts laying when egg prices are rising, while the late hatched bird seldom commences until the market is flooded with eggs.

This fact is one of the reasons that the early hatching of chicks has attained wide popularity, points out J. B. Hayes, poultry specialist at the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture. As it requires six to seven months to grow a pullet to the point where she can maintain high egg production, and as egg prices are usually highest during October, November, and December, it is easy to see the advantage of brooding the chicks during the later part of March or early April.

Provided the chicks are from high quality flocks, they can be brooded during the early part of spring in any section of the state. Hayes advises purchasing the chicks on the basis of quality rather than price. Chicks which are certain to be healthy and sturdy and which are from high producing flocks are worth more than the average run of hens and are easily worth a few cents difference in price.

Orders for early hatched chicks should be in the hands of the hatchery operator at least a month prior to delivery. Day-old chicks are favored by many poultrymen who feel it is easier to accustom them to their particular brooding system than it is with older birds.

New Arboretum Near Washington Will Be Tree And Plant Life Test Grounds

A national arboretum is in prospect near Washington, to serve as an experimental ground for forestry, agriculture and allied sciences. A congressional appropriation has made possible a beginning on 400 acres. Above is a type of young forest which the arboretum would make available to research workers. Dr. Frederick V. Coville (right), Mrs. Frank B. Noyes (upper left) and Frederic A. Delano (lower left) have been instrumental in foundation of the arboretum.

Washington—(AP)—In passing the $200,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill congress has opened the way definitely for establishment of a national arboretum on the outskirts of Washington, for 20 years the ambition of scientists and patrons of plant and tree life.

Four hundred acres of the proposed site already is owned by the government, and with the aid of $300,000 made available by the bill, an additional and contiguous 400 acres is expected to be added.

The 800-acre tract, which it is hoped may be increased to more than 2,000 acres in time, would constitute an arboretum for public education in botanical science, horticulture, agriculture and landscape gardening.

Dr. Frederick V. Coville, senior botanist in the federal bureau of plant industry, characterizes the arboretum as "a living library of the most important trees and plants of the world."

"Economically," he explains, "the arboretum would develop faster-growing timber trees, improved fruits and disease resistant plants, and would increase profoundly the agricultural wealth and welfare of the United States. Such an authentically named collection of living plants would be the basis for the correct identification of existing varieties and for the registration of new ones. It would constitute for the nurserymen and for the public a 'bureau of standards' for horticulture."

The most important thing about the arboretum, Dr. Coville says, is the fact that experiments and discoveries will be made by thousands, the value of which will reach to every household in America.

"Improvement of forest trees for the production of lumber is a new field of experiment," he points out. "There is every reason to believe that scientific men working at the arboretum will be able to modify the wild species of trees in such a manner that we can improve our crops of lumber just as we have learned to improve our crops of wheat over those produced by the wild plant."

"The maintenance of shade in our cities during the heat of summer is important in keeping up human comfort and efficiency. Under modern conditions of concrete pavements, impervious to air as well as to water, our street trees are dying. We ought to find out exactly what the roots of street trees require in the way of air, water, and food, and then know how to supply them."

Of primary importance is the provision that the arboretum shall serve as an introduction garden for plants of foreign countries and as an invaluable source of material for breeding more valuable varieties from the wild relatives of cultivated plants in this country.

Congress directs the secretary of agriculture to establish and maintain the arboretum for purposes of research and education, separate from the agriculture, horticulture, and forestry stations, but still so correlated that the facilities may be effectively utilized. The secretary is expected to name a director for the arboretum.

Frederic A. Delano of Washington, member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institution, is chairman of the arboretum advisory council. Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, chairman of the District of Columbia committee of the Garden Club of America, is among those most prominently identified with the success of legislation creating the arboretum.

ONE-DAY MARKETING INSTITUTE AT ALGOMA

Prominent Speakers Tell Farmers of Progress Made During Past Year

BY W. F. WINSEY

Algoma—A one-day farmers' dairy marketing institute was held here Friday, February 11, 1933. The institute began at 10:00 o'clock and lasted until noon and the afternoon session began at 1:30 p. m. and closed at 4:30 o'clock.

According to H. R. BY W. F. WINSEY

Green Bay—For milk delivered the first half of January, the Fairmont Creamery paid patrons $2.25 per hundred pounds or 65 cents a pound for butter fat. In a few days the patrons will be paid for milk delivered the last half of January. The supply of milk is about normal for this time of the year.

According to Calliari Brothers, the supply of hay offered on the local market is exceeding the demand. Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid to the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. Milk of Magnesia has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Lone Oak Poultry Ranch Firing Up Its Incubators

BY W. F. WINSEY

The new chicken coop of the Lone Oak Poultry Ranch, Appleton, route 4, will not be completed before next fall although nearly all the space on the three floors is in use at the present time. The building is 44 feet by 46 feet and including the basement, which is now being used as an incubator room, is three stories high. Beside the incubator, the new building will accommodate 1,000 chickens. There also is another chicken coop, 18 feet by 50 feet that accommodates 550 chickens. On this ranch, when the new building is completed, 1,600 chickens will be wintered for egg-laying purposes. Six hundred chickens are now laying quite regularly and are producing from 340 to 375 eggs daily. One pen of 190 are laying from 140 to 150 eggs daily. A large quantity of eggs are shipped by parcel post to Milwaukee consumers and the balance are sold to private consumers in Appleton.

On Saturday, February 11, an incubator of 7,000 egg capacity was started in the basement of the new coop and will be kept going until the close of the season. Eggs from choice hens on the ranch will be used in the incubator and large quantities will be bought from patrons who have bought chickens hatched in this ranch. The balance will be bought from breeders who have good laying strains of White Leghorns. In the past this ranch has had from 70 to 80 percent hatches.

Many Wisconsin Farmers Beginning To 'Talk Turkey'

BY W. F. WINSEY

Green Bay—By using the confinement, or Billings' method of raising turkeys, I. E. Shuster Aukken-co, Minnesota, hatched 115 turkeys and on Nov. 3 had 99 left. Mrs. Edward Skov, Otter Tail-co, Minnesota, hatched 99 turkeys and had 35 left the middle of October. Thomas Torgerson, Otter Tail-co hatched 39 turkeys and lost only 20. Mrs. Elsie Anderson, Kittson-co, hatched 125 and lost 20. Ray Anderson, Nelson-co, N. D. hatched 1,073 turkeys and had 500 left November 1. Mrs. Emily C. Reed, Gooding county, Idaho hatched 335 and raised 175, thieves explaining her big loss. Glen Golden, Stubbens-co, Indiana, hatched 126 turkeys and on November 5 had 105 left. Robert L. Peterson, Townsco, N. D., hatched 832 turkeys and on Nov. 7, had 640 left that averaged 20 pounds. "I hatched 529 turkeys with hens and undertook to handle them by the method I had followed the last 17 years," said Mr. Peterson, "and I raised 38 that averaged only 13 pounds."

A large majority of turkey raisers are suspicious of the confinement method of raising turkeys because they say the turkey is a wild bird that must roam through the woods and fields to make a living and would pine away and die in captivity. But some of the early pioneers said the same thing about the wild hogs growing about in the forests that they often shot for food. Those who discussed raising the big in captivity and as a result of their exertions and that of those who followed them have a much better hog than the wild hog. Nine out of every ten people say that all animals muskrats can be raised in captivity and nine out of every ten breeders are now fencing off sections of the wild haunts of muskrats and are trying to raise the animals for commercial purposes under discouraging handicaps.

A breeder in Cedarburg, however, has found out that better muskrats can be raised in confinement than the wild ones in the open, that the animals are comfortable and contented with the change and are much larger and better than those running wild. From forty to eighty percent of the turkeys hatched and permitted to run wild die each year from black head, intestinal worms, and mites and lice that are transmitted to the turkeys by chickens. The small intestinal worms of chickens," says Dr. W. A. Billings, who is responsible for the success of the confinement method of raising turkeys, "acts as a starter for blackhead." "Blackhead is extremely difficult to transmit from one turkey to another unless the chicken worm is present to help. Now then, if you would like to successfully fight this disease, you must keep the turkeys on ground where chickens have not been. Inasmuch as your chickens

A Different Plan for the Coming Dollar Days

PETTIBONE'S is doing it differently this year. A new plan is giving zest and enthusiasm to our preparations for the February Dollar Days. For we are eliminating the clearance idea from our minds and concentrating on new merchandise, just purchased by our buyers. This does not mean that there will be no clearance groups, for there will be many small lots that it will be well worth while to look up, but they will not be mentioned in our Wednesday night advertisement. Everything advertised there will be new, fresh, attractive merchandise that you can use right now.

Some of these Dollar Day "specials" are so amazingly good that we hesitate to say all we might about them. We want you to be pleasantly surprised when you come in on Wednesday and find out how much more your dollars will buy than you ever imagined they would.

On Thursday we shall advertise many new things that have been bought especially for Friday's selling. And at that time we shall mention certain clearances that we think are worth special attention. You won't want to miss Dollar Days at Pettibone's, for everywhere you turn there will be something you want at a price that makes it irresistible.

Be sure to read our advertisement in tomorrow's paper. It contains all the interesting details for Thursday.
